

Big Three Ministers Lighten Occupation Burden For Austria

(By The Associated Press)

Foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France promised today to lighten Austria's occupation burdens.

The Big Three announced in London they will appoint civilian high commissioners "at an early date" to replace military governors in the western occupation zones of Austria.

Their communique charged Russia with making it impossible to reach four-power agreement on an Austrian independence treaty. Four-power talks on the treaty have been bogged down for three years because of Russian delays and obstacles.

Today's announcement was the last of several on important decisions of cold war policy reached in 10 days of conferences by the Big Three and the council composed of all 12 foreign ministers of Atlantic pact countries.

Their major decision was to create a unified command. It will be a sort of board of directors to unite western defenses steering the west militarily and economically. It will remain in almost continuous session, probably making London its headquarters. An American is expected to head it.

U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, who was chairman of the conference, leaves for home today. Foreign diplomats in London said he has done a good job. He had come to the talks fired with the urgency of uniting the west against possible Russian aggression and with a blueprint for a permanent Atlantic pact council in his pocket. Most of his ideas for unity were accepted by the other foreign ministers. Acheson went away convinced that the west is at last on the right road.

Prison Decried For Axis Sally

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The U. S. Circuit court of appeals ruled today that Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars must serve 10 to 30 years in prison for broadcasting Nazi propaganda during World War II.

The white-haired 49-year-old former actress was convicted more than a year ago in federal district court here. The verdict was handed down by a jury which deliberated 17 hours and 20 minutes.

In addition to the sentence of from 10 to 30 years, she also was fined $10,000. She would be eligible for parole after serving 10 years in prison.

Since federal Judge Edward M. Curran pronounced sentence on March 25, 1949, Miss Gillars had been held in the District of Columbia jail.

There was no immediate statement concerning whether she would appeal today's decision to the United States supreme court.

Miss Gillars, a native of Maine, admitted broadcasting for the Germans. But she claimed that she really helped the U. S. war effort by her radio broadcasts telling the families of captured American soldiers that they were still alive.

Excavation For New Dock At St. Ignace To Cost $318,007

LANSING—(AP)—Lyons Construction Co. of Whitehall was low bidder at $318,007 yesterday for excavation work for the basin of the new state ferry dock at St. Ignace.

The new dock is to be built more than a mile south of the present dock and will shorten the ferry trip from Mackinaw City by 1.6 miles an drive 10 to 12 minutes on the trip.

The old dock, the highway department said, is inadequate to handle present traffic and will not be suitable for the use of the new icebreaker ferry now under construction.

The basin excavation is expected to be completed Sept. 1. Construction of the new dock, parking area and roadways will follow.

Pilot And Passenger Jump In Plane Crash

WEST CHESTER, Pa.—(AP)—An air force jet plane crashed and exploded last night after the pilot and his passenger had parachuted to safety in a heavy rainstorm.

The pilot, Major Richard H. Burner, 31, of Washington, escaped without injury. His passenger, Second Lieut. G. H. Criscivene, 23, sustained a cut lip.

The two-seater jet fighter training plane crashed near Lionville, Pa.—about seven miles from where the two fliers came to earth. The wreckage was scattered over a mile area of farming country.

Truman Regime Ignores Charge Of Immorality

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman's refusal to discuss Republican charges of "political immorality" in his administration was taken by Senator Taft today as showing that the charges stand undisputed.

Taft, Ohio Republican who raised the accusation, referred to the no-comment stand taken by Mr. Truman at a White House news conference yesterday.

The president, meeting the press for the first time since his cross-country speaking trip, said he had not listened to Taft on a nationwide radio hookup Tuesday night nor read Taft's speech.

The speech was billed widely as the Republican reply to Mr. Truman.

In it Taft said "the political immorality of the Truman administration has shaken the confidence of the people in their government."

He also said Mr. Truman "accused his opponents indiscriminately of greed and privileges but he said not a word about greed and privilege—and crime—in his home bailiwick of Kansas City or in the White House itself."

Mr. Truman refused a Chicago Tribune reporter's request for comment, cracking that the Tribune would make all the comment necessary on that.

Informed of this at the Senate, Taft told a reporter:

"He does not answer it, so it stands undisputed."

Tip Spurs Soo Fugitive Hunt

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich.—(AP)—An armed posse followed a possible "hot trail" today in the hunt for two fugitive Ohio convicts.

The search, aided by bloodhounds, centered in an area immediately south of Sault Ste. Marie's city limits.

For eight days authorities of Michigan's north country have been seeking Paul and Lloyd Russell, brothers who escaped from a London, O., prison farm. They were serving terms of three to 3 1/2 years for safe-cracking.

A night police got a tip that a man resembling Lloyd was seen in a tavern on a county road near the Soo.

A hastily reorganized posse of armed men followed a trail which led to the St. Marys river in the same general area where the fugitives had been sought earlier.

Either the elusive pair had returned from Canada or an earlier hunt in Ontario's blind river district had been on a wrong steer, police said.

William Menere said a stranger came into his tavern about 9:30 p. m. and bought cigarettes and a box of candy bars. But Abel, a patron, said the man "looked like" a picture of Lloyd Russell.

Costa Rican Church Pleads For Return Of Stolen Virgin Statue

SANJOSE, Costa Rica—(AP)—The Roman Catholic church appealed by radio today for the return of the stolen virgin of the angels, venerated as Costa Rica's patroness. The thieves were told to keep the gold and jewels, worth an estimated $1,000,000, ornamenting the black rock statue.

The 300-year-old figure was stolen last Friday from the basilica at Cartago, 20 miles southeast of San Jose. Rewards totaling $600,000 have been offered for its return and three days of national mourning for the loss were declared.

The radio appeal was made by Msgr. Alfredo Hidalgo in the absence of Archbishop Victor Sanabria, who has been making a holy year pilgrimage to Rome. The archbishop was reported returning here by plane after cutting short his trip to assist in the hunt for the statue.

Democrats In Lansing Seek Divine Guidance

LANSING—(AP)—A group of house Democrats have organized "to seek divine guidance in creating good legislation."

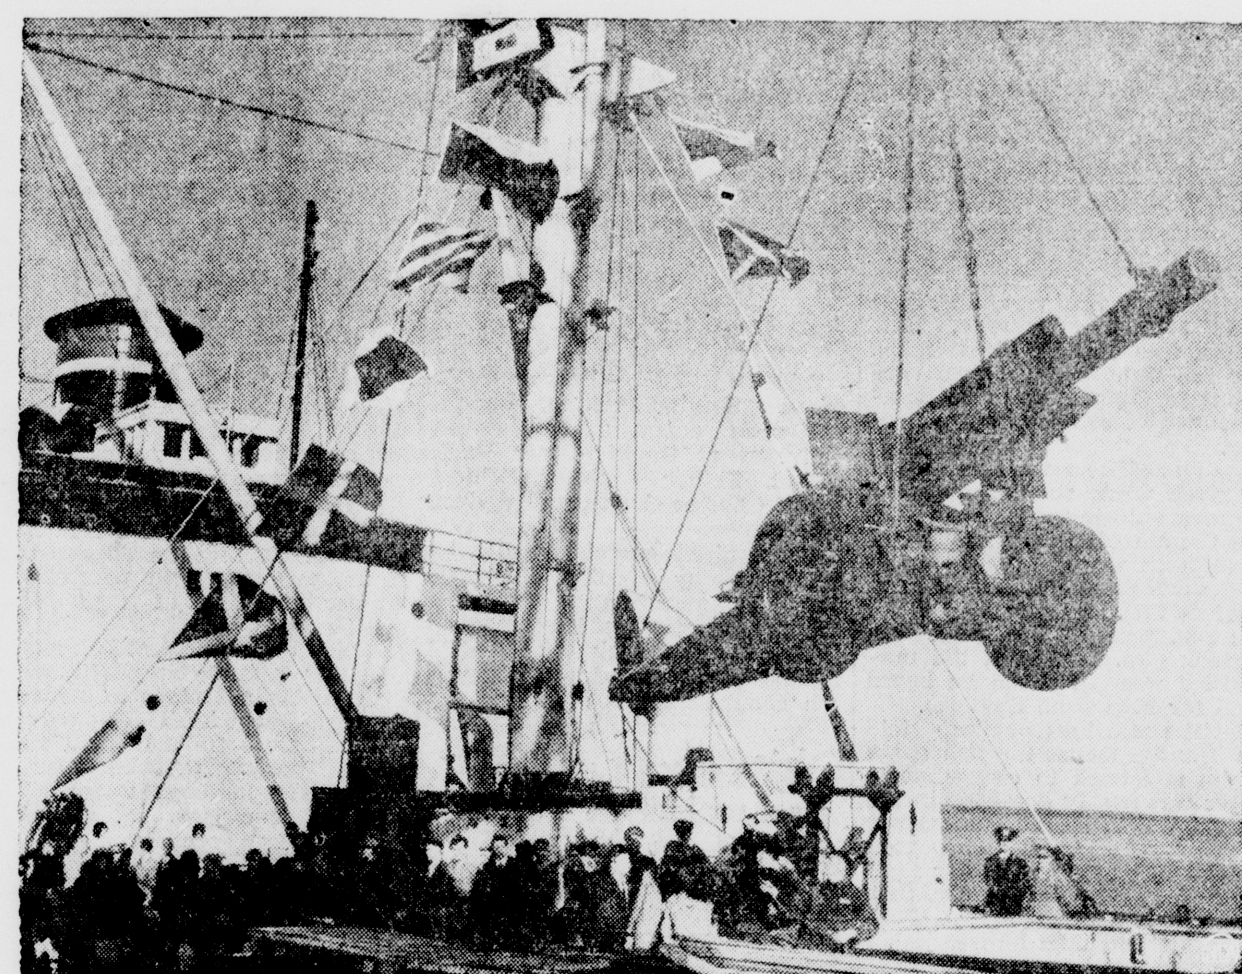

Wayne county members who are also Roman Catholics sent letters today to their parish priests asking them and their parishioners to join the lawmakers in reciting the rosary Sunday at 7:15 p. m. over a Detroit radio station.

"We are in the midst of a legislative fight on school appropriations and budget legislation in which we seek the aid of you and your parishioners," the lawmakers wrote.

Lansing Lawmakers Tussle Over Economy Budget

ATLANTIC PACT IN ACTION—While the "Big Three" foreign ministers of the top Atlantic Pact countries met in London to discuss ways to co-ordinate and strengthen their allegiance, the first gun from the United States to be shipped to Europe under the arms-aid program was hoisted over the side at Zebrugge, Belgium. The shipment is part of a billion dollars' worth of military aid pledged by the U. S. to the defense of Western Europe.

Death Fences Planned Tax Bill Veto To Trap Sea Lamprey

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A death-dealing electronic fence may be installed this summer across streams emptying into the Great Lakes.

Its purpose would be to kill off the sea lamprey, a parasite which in the last 15 years has almost ruined commercial and game fishing in Lakes Huron and Michigan. Lampreys are eel-like creatures with sucker mouths rimmed with sharp teeth.

The fish and wildlife service said today it is negotiating with three organizations for construction of such an electric device.

The first installations would be at river mouths on Lake Huron and Michigan.

Paul Thompson, assistant chief of fishery biology for the service, told a reporter the service hopes to have them in operation by October, in order to kill the young lamprey on their fall migration downstream into the lakes.

The second phase of the experiment, he said, would come next spring. The fence then is supposed to kill adult lamprey as they try to go upstream to spawn.

All three organizations, Thompson said, promise to kill the lamprey without harming the fish upon which the lamprey prey. Each is guarding the secret of its plans.

Thompson said none of the proposals is so simple as a hot-fin, the hydroelectric equivalent of a hot-foot.

Instead, he said, they involve pulsations timed with the heartbeat of the lamprey, and then changed to a different wavelength.

This change, Thompson said, is supposed to kill the lamprey. Its proponents say it will not harm fish because they operate on a different frequency.

The fish and wildlife service has a $256,000 appropriation for lamprey control projects this year, and has budgeted $216,000 for the purpose next year.

In addition, Wisconsin is spending about $25,000 on lamprey control, Ontario $15,000, and Michigan $10,000, Thompson said.

Washington—(AP)—A speed-up in corporation tax payments and possibly an increase in corporate tax rates were weighed in the House ways and means committee today. They might be one way to dodge a presidential veto of a $1,080,000,000 slash in excise taxes.

What the committee will do is not certain.

Yesterday it courted a tax bill veto by flatly rejecting Mr. Truman's proposal for $200,000,000 additional taxes on oil, gas, sulphur and non-metallic minerals operators.

It refused to reduce depletion allowances (tax exemptions to offset the using up of resources) for these interests and, instead, approved new depletion exemptions for more producers.

Earlier it had turned down a $400,000,000 increase in taxes on inheritances and large gifts, also proposed by the president.

That left larger tax collections from corporations as the only major source of revenue by which Mr. Truman proposed to offset cuts in excises—on such things as furs, jewelry, handbags, toilet preparations, travel tickets, communications, etc.

Mr. Truman promised to veto any tax bill that does not erase excise revenue losses by larger collections elsewhere.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The House Ways and Means committee voted today to cut the taxes on the coal industry by $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 a year.

It was a further move away from the recommendation of President Truman. The President has urged that business taxes be increased, if changed at all, to make up for prospective losses in government revenue from cuts in excise taxes on such things as telephone and telegraph bills and travel tickets.

American Airmen Tell Of 18 Months Captivity In China

By ROY ESSOYAN

PEARL HARBOR—(AP)—Two U. S. airmen indicated yesterday they had admitted a Red charge of spying in order to escape from 18 months of captivity in Communist North China.

Marine Sgt. Elmer C. Bender, 27, Cincinnati, and Navy Chief Electrician's Mate William C. Smith, 32, Long Beach, Calif., said they were treated better "than we could possibly have expected."

No News From Home

But they wouldn't say yes or no at a press conference when asked if they had signed confessions that they were American spies. The Communists, in announcing their release May 3 said they confessed.

"As far as statements we made while we were up there," said Bender, "we were cut off entirely and the best way to get out was through our own efforts."

Asked what was meant by that, Smith said it was a long story and "I will explain it all later." When a reporter asked them, however, what were used to get "confessions," Bender replied:

"There were no means, so-called. But it was that they gave us the idea that we were to be there from now on. We were shut off from home. We had no news from home. The longer we stayed, the longer it looked as if we were going to stay."

Truman Criticized

The two were captured Oct. 19, 1948, when their light plane was forced down by engine trouble near the north China port of Tsingtao. The city then was a U. S. Navy anchorage and they were on a training flight.

Smith said "the Communists gave us quite a blow-out when we left. There was plenty of chow at that party."

In the interior they heard criticism of President Truman and Chiang Kai-shek. They heard no word against the Russians or Communist leader Mao Tse-tung. Neither saw any sign of a Nationalist underground.

Bender said the anti-American propaganda was aimed solely at the U. S. government and "they had nothing against the American people."

Smith added that everyone they saw seemed sold on Communism although only a few educated Chinese among them knew anything about Communist theory.

Dike Weakened Near Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Man.—(AP)—Rain fell again today on waterlogged Winnipeg, already fearing a call for general evacuation of this city of 350,000.

The swollen Red river inched up to a new high, and transportation was readied to move out those who had not already fled the flood menace.

The rainfall today was half an inch—not enough to make an appreciable difference in an area already deluged. But any more rain, said D. M. Stephens, flood level adviser to the Canadian army, might send the Red river closer to the disaster point.

Some 10,500 homes in Winnipeg and neighboring St. Boniface are already inundated. About 3,000 more are seriously threatened.

The Canadian army gave up a plan to blast away part of a suburban Fort Garry railway embankment as a means of diverting the confined waters of Canada's worst flood.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman will sound the keynote for observance of Armed Forces Day throughout the nation tomorrow.

With Secretary of Defense Johnson, the President speaks tonight at a banquet of military men in the Statler hotel here—a session expected to stress the theme of national strength through unity.

Tomorrow's nation-wide observance of Armed Forces Day will be the first of its kind.

Crack units of all the armed forces will pass in review before the president, Johnson and other national leaders in a mammoth military parade in the capital tomorrow morning.

The Navy will display ships of many types in the principal ports along the coast and the Great Lakes. These ships, like shore installations of the Army, the Navy, the Air Force and the Marine Corps, will observe "open house" for the public.

End Of Session By Saturday Is G. O. P. Goal

Democrats May Block Final Adjournment

By JAMES A. O. CROWE

LANSING—(AP)—The House disappointed packed galleries and visiting state officials today by delaying the start of expected fireworks over the Republican $270,000,000 "economy" state budget.

GOP leaders were driving for passage of the budget by Saturday and final adjournment of the session. The Democrats sought to force record votes on their moves to increase the budget to the level recommended by Governor Williams and to block the adjournment.

Armed to Teeth

Both camps were armed to the teeth with rule books, secret strategy maneuvers, and Democratic desks were piled with amendments to the 145-page budget bill.

The morning session, however, passed with votes on a string of resolutions and passage of a bill to lift the $50,000 ceiling on the present corporation privilege tax.

There was also a long recess to permit the House committee on amendment of the constitution to report a proposal for a $65,000,000 bond issue to build mental hospitals.

The committee at the same time killed Governor Williams' proposal for lowering the voting age to 18. This move was expected.

Opposition Hopeful

The recess was over just in time for a motion to take a break for lunch (until 1:30).

The Democrats were hopeful that if they could force a weekend recess, local pressure against drastic Republican budget cut could wear away enough of the shaky House Republican majority to upset the carefully laid economy plans.

Early predictions were that the strong Democratic minority of 39 members would repeat Wednesday's vigorous Senate filibuster through which the upper chamber Democrats made their objections felt.

There were a few observers, however, who held that the Democrats had got their point across in the Senate and that the

Copper Price Boost Believed Imminent In Calumet District

CALUMET, Mich.—(AP)—A one-cent pound increase in the price of copper was believed imminent in this area today.

The copper country, notably Calumet and Hecla, was expected to follow the lead of larger mining companies which raised the price to 20 1/2 cents yesterday.

A representative of Calumet and Hecla said the development was reassuring.

If the company raises its prices it will be able to break even or show a small profit after losing money at the old rate, he said.

This was coupled with a hint that labor might ask a wage increase.

Princess Irks Egyptian Court

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Comely young Princess Fathia fanned the ire of her brother's Egyptian court anew last night with hints that her Moslem wedding ceremony with commoner Riad Chafi is imminent.

The pretty 19-year-old had San Francisco's fashionable nob bill a twitter as she unwrapped and donned the white and perfumed wedding tulle she had arrived from Paris. She also indicated she has chosen the Imam (Priest) who will seal the civil ceremony performed here last month.

But she refused to divulge the name of the Imam or tell where the religious rite will be held.

"The King's agents here might stop it," she said.

In the meantime, the beleaguered lovers continued to share separate quarters in their Nob Hill hotel—Fathia with her Queen mother, Nazli and Ghali, the Queen's secretary, alone.

Farouk already has shown Fathia of her title and wealth and ordered her, Ghali and the Queen mother home.

J. P. Norton Sues To Compel Accounting From Lindenthals

John P. Norton, owner and publisher of the Escanaba Daily Press, and president of the Delta Broadcasting company, yesterday filed suit against Frank J. Lindenthal and George D. Lindenthal of Escanaba for a circuit court order to compel an accounting of the Lindenthals' official conduct of the Delta Broadcasting company.

Frank Lindenthal is secretary-treasurer and a director and George Lindenthal is general manager of Delta Broadcasting company, a corporation operating radio station WDBC.

To obtain additional information in connection with the operations of the corporation, counsel for the plaintiff has filed a motion for discovery, which will be brought on for hearing before Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson at a special session of court to be held Tuesday afternoon, May 23, at Crystal Falls.

Asks Information
The plaintiff in the motion for discovery of information asks the court to issue an order permitting the plaintiff:

"To have discovery of all the records, documents, papers and books of the Delta Broadcasting company and defendants relating to or in any way pertaining to the Delta Broadcasting company under Michigan Court Rules No. 40, Sec. 1, and No. 41, Sec. 1, and he have the right to examine the defendants concerning all the information regarding the letter of M. S. Kuhns and company (newspaper auditing firm) of March 20, 1950, all of the transactions concerning the purchase of the Delta Broadcasting company, all of the financial affairs of the Delta Broadcasting company, including the receipt and payment of all moneys received by the Delta Broadcasting company since its purchase in Jan., 1947 to date and the payment of all moneys for salaries, expense and other expenditures and any and all contracts between the Delta Broadcasting company and any other person, firm or company."

To Compel Complaint
The plaintiff also asks the court to issue an order restraining the defendant, Frank Lindenthal, from selling or transferring any of the property or stock of the Delta Broadcasting company while the suit is pending or until further order of the court.

Besides his connection with the Delta Broadcasting company, Frank Lindenthal has for the past 26 years been an employee of the Escanaba Daily Press, according to the information in the motion. He served as bookkeeper for about six years and for 20 years as business manager until last February.

George Lindenthal was first employed by the Escanaba Daily Press in 1936, and in January, 1947, became general manager of Delta Broadcasting company, according to the information.

In asking for the motion of discovery in the suit for an accounting, the plaintiff contends that information requested of but not delivered by the defendants is necessary to properly plead and file a bill of complaint.

Rotary Delegates Named To Attend District Meeting

The Escanaba Rotary club will be represented at the Rotary district conference to be held May 21-22 in Ironwood, which will be attended by delegates from Rotary clubs in Northern Wisconsin and the Upper Peninsula.

Game Warden Hurt In Fight

Injured In Effort To Halt Spearing

A state conservation officer was in the hospital at Marquette today and a Marquette man was released from jail without charge pending outcome of the officer's injuries following a fight last night on a stream near Marquette when the officer attempted to arrest the man for illegal fish spearing.

Conservation Officer Arthur Savillito, 31, of Ishpeming, suffered chest and arm injuries and was nearly drowned about 10 p. m. Thursday in the fight that occurred on the Carp river three miles south of Marquette.

Eino Wanska, about 40, of Albert street, Marquette, was released from jail this morning following a conference between district conservation officers and Marquette Prosecutor John Voelker.

Officers Savillito and Alger Lahti, 37, of Marquette, took Wanska into custody last night after the fight on the river, according to John Chirke of Escanaba, district conservation supervisor.

The two officers were patrolling the river when they came upon two men spearing rainbow trout with the aid of an artificial light. Three trout were in their possession and were confiscated.

Before this, however, one of the men ran, pursued by Lahti, who overtook him. Lahti left the unidentified man go when he heard a call for help from Savillito.

Chirke said that Savillito told him Wanska thrust the fish spear at him and tried to escape. The officer was nearly drowned in the river, it was reported. His call for help brought Lahti who took Wanska in custody. Another fight occurred at the officer's car, they said, before they could get Wanska inside and take him to jail.

The program included musical numbers directed by James Stoker and slides depicting music in the school curriculum shown by Manley Anderson of Escanaba. Lunch was served.

Woodchuck Starts Fire In Officer's Car — Hot Story

This is a hot story about a woodchuck's revenge

Conservation Officer Glenn Price of Chatham came back to his parked car in the woods of Alger county the other day and as he approached a woodchuck darted out from beneath the auto. That was not so unusual—but what happened afterward was.

Price started his car and drove a short distance. Suddenly smoke poured out from under the hood. Investigating, Price found that the woodchuck had chewed a hole in the radiator hose.

The alcohol in the radiator spilled from the hole on top of the hot motor and ignited, burning all the wiring off the engine. Price plans to install a woodchuck live-trap under the hood when the wiring is restored.

City Airport Needs Studied

Flight Obstacles Must Be Removed

George D. Card, of the engineering division of the Michigan Department of Aeronautics, Lansing, conferred with members of the Escanaba city council and the city planning commission last night regarding plans for the development of the Escanaba airport.

Card advised the city officials that before the project for lengthening and widening the Escanaba airport can be presented to the Civil Aeronautics administration for approval, it will be necessary to proceed with plans for removing obstacles within the 40 to 1 flight pattern north and south of the runway.

The aeronautical engineer informed the city officials that while it will not be necessary to secure title to all of the property involved, or remove all of the obstacles before the airport project can be approved, the CAA will require proof of progress towards this end. The federal government will reimburse the city to the extent of 25% of any funds expended for property purchases.

The total cost of the land involved is about $34,000, city officials said, but some of this money can later be recovered by resale of the property with restrictions against the height of trees that will be permitted.

Action on the project is important now because the Wisconsin Central Airlines plans to institute regularly scheduled commercial service here June 1 under a temporary permit that includes a waiver for landings under substandard conditions.

Rites Saturday For Sister Of Hospital Head

Funeral services for Mrs. Elizabeth Kennedy, 51, sister of St. Mary Cecilia, superior of St. Francis hospital, who died in the hospital Thursday morning, will be held at 9 a. m. Saturday in the hospital chapel. Burial will be in Holy Cross cemetery.

Mrs. Kennedy, who had lived at the hospital for two years, was born Dec. 28, 1899 in Hays, Kan. Others surviving are a son, Patrick of Escanaba; a sister, Mrs. Frank Heile of Peoria, Ill., and four brothers, Brother Wendelin, O.M.C., of Victoria, Kan., John Wiesner of Richmond, Minn., Leo Wiesner of Ellis, Kan., and A. A. Wiesner of Hays, Kan.

Boyce funeral home is in charge of arrangements.

Boy Cyclist's Death Inquest Is Ordered

IRON MOUNTAIN—An inquest will be held in the death of Robert Johnson, eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Johnson of Iron Mountain who died Thursday from injuries sustained in a bicycle-automobile accident at 6 p. m. Wednesday, it was announced today by D. Carroll Asp, county coroner, and John V. Zanardi, county prosecutor.

The coroner and prosecutor investigated the accident thoroughly and determined that the boy did not have his bicycle under control and that Charles Hansen, of Kingsford, driver of the car which collided with Robert's bicycle, did have his machine under control.

GLADSTONE—John Alvin Olson, 50, 1216 Wisconsin avenue, Gladstone, died at 9:05 this morning at St. Francis hospital in Escanaba. He had been ill for three weeks.

Mr. Olson, who was employed by the Clairmont Transfer in Chicago, was born in Masonville October 15, 1899, and had lived in this community all of his life. He attended the Gladstone schools. He worshipped at the Mission Covenant church.

Surviving are a daughter, Janet Sue, and one sister, Miss Hazel Olson, both of Gladstone.

The body is at the Kelley funeral home, Gladstone.

History Society To Hear Carl Sawyer Monday At Library

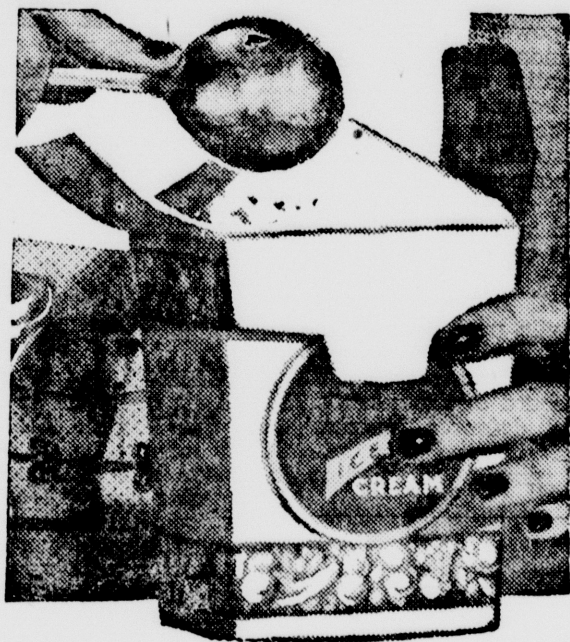

Carl J. Sawyer of Escanaba will speak to the Delta County Historical Society at its May meeting to be held at 7:30 p. m. Monday at Carnegie Public Library.

Sawyer, author of "A History of Lumbering in Delta County", will describe to the members his method of obtaining information for papers on historical subjects. The compilation of source material and checking for facts will be explained.

The members of the local Society will also discuss the Upper Peninsula history conference to be held at Marquette May 27, and Delta's representation at the meeting.

Detailed Budget Study Will Tell Much Of Escanaba's Government

ESCANABANS can learn considerable about the operation of their city government by making a detailed study of the city budget for the 1950-51 fiscal year. Copies of the budget, containing 30 pages, may be secured at the office of the city manager.

The city government will spend in the next fiscal year $2,197,752.27, according to the budget estimates. This is an increase of $338,155 over the budget estimates of the 1949-50 fiscal year but $750,000 of the increase is allocated for the construction of a new water filtration plant and extension of water mains for which a bond issue of that amount was recently approved by the city electors.

General operating costs of the city government next year, exclusive of the utility departments, will be $719,417, an increase of $112,238 over the present year. Nearly $31,000 of the increase is in welfare needs, for which the city has appropriated special funds to aid the county welfare bureau. An additional $90,000 increase is in the highway fund, to be used for street improvements in the city.

The utilities departments will spend in the next fiscal year $1,478,334, including, of course, the special $750,000 expenditure for a new water plant and water main extensions.

The budget estimates for the four utility departments indicate that two of the utilities, electric and water, will show a profit next year and that the other two, gas and steam, will result in deficits.

The electric utility is the big money maker for the city. Estimated profit for next year is $132,185 but to this should be added $7,799 for taxes and $53,312 for interest on capital investment, a total of $193,296.

With taxes and interest on investment figured in, all but the steam utility will produce substantial revenues for the city next year. The steam plant will show an out of pocket loss of only $220, by far the best showing in many years. An operating loss of $6,517 will be partially offset by a return of $6,296 in taxes and interest on investment.

These are some of the figures that are available in the 1950-51 city budget. The complete budget is much too lengthy for publication in full in the Daily Press, but we heartily recommend that local citizens who are sincerely interested in civic government secure a copy of the full budget at the city hall. Copies are available without charge. Study it carefully and you will learn some of the complexities of Escanaba city government, the scope of services offered and the cost of maintaining them.

As a stockholder in a municipal corporation with assets of $5,462,000 and a budget this year of more than $2,000,000, it is your duty to find out how your government spends the money it collects from you.

Princeton Looks Ahead To Your Heir's

PRINCETON university has announced it will publish the papers of Thomas Jefferson. It calls them the "richest treasure house of historical information ever left by a single man," and adds that the project is thought to be the largest book publishing job ever undertaken.

The whole thing will take about 20 years and will cost about $1,000,000. There'll be 52 volumes of some 750 pages each. The project will start out at reduced draft, with just two volumes scheduled for 1950. After that the aim will be four a year.

What we liked most about this announcement was a little touch that showed the university's far-sightedness. Recognizing that a man might grow old and die before he finished collecting these ambitious works, it tried to meet that eventuality. "Subscriptions may be cancelled by the subscriber OR HIS HEIRS."

REDS LOSE IN AUSTRIA (Milwaukee Journal)

The point has often been made that Communists have never won an election without the use of force, guile or undemocratic election procedures.

The point was confirmed in Austria last Sunday.

Russian troops occupy lower Austria. The Communist party is active under Russian protection. The Red occupation authorities hand picked the mayors of the larger cities back in 1945 and they have consistently refused to change them.

In the municipal elections Sunday, the Communist group got less than 5% of the vote. Ten of the 11 mayors named by the Communists were defeated for re-election.

Coupled with a similar defeat the Communists took last year in parliamentary elections, it is plain that the south Austrians have taken a good look at both the Russians and their communism and want no part of either. That seems to be the universal reaction whenever people have the opportunity to choose between communism and something else.

CARLTON LINDSTROM (Sault Ste. Marie News)

The Sault suffered a heavy loss in the death of Carlton Lindstrom. He was the kind of citizen who was conscious of his civic responsibilities as well as his active interest in the business and religious life of his city. The Boy Scout program had the benefit of his judgment and his work and he was always a willing helper in the University of Michigan club. His varied other interests made his a busy life.

Sault Ste. Marie is a better city in which to live because of the efforts of men like Carlton Lindstrom. He had real values and his citizenship has meant much to this community. There is keen regret that his labors have ended.

When a check comes back marked "no account," maybe it means that of the person who wrote it.

Surprise

If you're asked to name the pleasantest surprise there is on earth, there are many overwhelming things that have a lot of worth. Just suppose your wife's new hat was one that didn't look a sight, or they cut in half your taxes which have always been a fright. Or suppose you'd get to sleep all day and never go to work, at a time when you anticipate a lot of chores that irk.

Just imagine, crossing highways, that you'd dodge no cars or trucks, or suppose a long-lost uncle left to you a million bucks. Think how overcome you'd be, should you have lots of dough to blow, if the nurse would say "It's twins" when you are pacing to and fro. And, of course, you'd sure be glad to learn your daughter's made a choice—if she picks a guy with common sense, it's something to rejoice.

Oh there's quite a few surprises that you'd welcome any day—think how nice 't would be to learn you've no installments left to pay. But there's one that tops the others and it wreathes your face in smiles, and it doesn't happen often, though you drive a million miles. No surprise can be more pleasant than the future's looking dark, and you drive your car downtown and quickly find a place to park.

MARTIN

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Civil rights is the rock on which Abraham Lincoln founded the Republican party. Yet Senator Taft of Ohio who is Mr. Republican himself, has just made a cold-blooded deal with Southern Democrats to help them defeat civil rights.

Taft has promised to hold back enough Republican votes to prevent cloture—in other words, prevent the senate from breaking the civil rights filibuster. In return Taft got southern votes to support him in blocking the proposed Truman-Herbert Hoover reorganization of the National Labor Relations board.

Under present rules it requires 64 votes to break the filibuster—which means that every available Northern Democrat and Republican must be present and vote for cloture. Therefore, if Taft can keep only four or five Republicans from voting, southern senators will be able to talk civil rights to death.

This is exactly the deal which the senator from Ohio made with Sen. Dick Russell of Georgia, the astute southern spokesman. The agreement has been kept a top political secret, and undoubtedly will be denied. However, other senators were in on it, and this column has carefully confirmed the facts.

Taft not only estimated that he could keep at least six GOP senators from voting to end the filibuster, but he actually named them. They are: Senators Millikin of Colorado, Malone of Nevada, Bridges of New Hampshire, Gurney of South Dakota, Young of North Dakota and Hickenlooper of Iowa—and two or three others might also be persuaded, Taft said.

TAFT GOES IN REVERSE

In return, Senator Russell promised to give Taft a solid block of southern votes against the reorganization of the National Labor Relations board, a plan which would have abolished the general counsel's office. The interesting thing about this reorganization is that it was not only proposed by Herbert Hoover, but one year ago it was also sponsored by Taft himself.

However, Robert Denham, the NLRB general counsel whose job would be abolished, has been a faithful follower of the Taft-Hartley act, so this year Taft reversed himself and fought tooth and nail to block NLRB reorganization.

Taft's trade with Senator Russell has already borne fruit regarding this part of the deal. For, last week, Southern Democrats delivered a block of votes to defeat NLRB reorganization—with the exception of Senator Withers of Kentucky. He voted against Taft and for Truman.

Today it's Taft's turn to keep his part of the bargain. He himself will vote against the south and line up to break the filibuster in order to keep his record clean. He would be defeated for re-election in Ohio if he didn't.

However, the six GOP senators whom Taft has said he would deliver to the Southern Democrats have already expressed their views privately as against cloture. This is probably something which Taft did not tell Senator Russell.

For, in secret Republican councils, the above-mentioned six had argued against cloture. This is probably something which Taft did not tell Senator Russell.

For, in secret Republican councils, the above-mentioned six had argued against the principle of shutting off senate debate. In fact, Taft had little to do with wooing them over to the other side.

Meanwhile, it is significant that Taft has been noticeably uncooperative in rounding up Republican votes against the filibuster, though fellow Republicans have not suspected the reason. Senator Wherry of Nebraska, on the other hand, has been quite active.

DEWEY BACKS A ROOSEVELT

No one would ever expect Governor Dewey to propose a Roosevelt for public office.

But, believe it or not, that's what Dewey did the other day. He sent word to Elliott Roosevelt, urging him to run for congress from New York City against Rep. Vito Marcantonio of the American Labor party.

Dewey's message was brought to Elliott by Paul Lockwood, one of the governor's confidential secretaries, who promised that, if Elliott could get Tammany's backing, he would also have Republican support in running against Marcantonio.

Marcantonio has had pro-Communist support and represents the Puerto Rican-Negro district of New York which ordinarily would be hard for an outsider to carry. But just as young Franklin Roosevelt, then an outsider, was able to carry the 18th district, so it is believed Elliott could carry Marcantonio's district if he had support from Tammany and the Republicans.

Following Lockwood's proposal to Elliott, the latter conferred with Tammany leaders and their decision is expected shortly.

READERS' CORNER

Leipsic: Regarding your recent discussion of the feminine omnibus word "cute," several years ago we had as guests two girls from Virginia. We wanted to take some snapshots. One of them objected, saying, "I don't take a good picture—I'm too cute." We learned that she meant "howlegged!"—H. S.

Answer: Cute for "howlegged" turns up in my mail regularly. But I have found no record of it other than a mention in The American Thesaurus of Slang (Thomas Y. Crowell Company). I have no idea how the expression originated, nor where.

Philadelphia: How did the nickname "limy," for an Englishman originate?—P. H. K.

Answer: In the days of sailing ships, sailors often developed scurvy because of vitamin deficiencies in their monotonous diets. The British government passed a law making a daily ration of lime juice compulsory on all ships. Among mariners British ships became known as "lime-juicers." Later, British seamen were called "limys," and in time "limy" became a nickname for any Englishman, a soldier or sailor especially.

Over-Picking Threatens To Dim Michigan's Flower-Bright Woods

This is the merry month of May—when uncouncted millions of Michigan's native wildflowers are destroyed.

Some of these flowering plants are so rare they are threatened with extinction. It will not be many years, say the naturalists, when these flowers will be only a memory along with the passenger pigeon and the whistling swan.

The trailing arbutus is an example. Abundant at one time, arbutus is now considered rare in Michigan and, with some other flowering plants, is protected by state law.

Arbutus and the other rare native wildflowers may not be picked and offered for sale without the written consent of the owner of the land on which they were grown.

Killed With a Smile

Yet this has not halted the peddlers who are interested only in getting something for nothing and turning it into money.

Despite the law, thousands of bouquets of arbutus and other spring flowers are offered for sale along Northern Michigan roadsides and sometimes in the city markets. When Autumn arrives, bittersweet with its orange seed pods and the native Michigan holly, both on the protected list, also find their way to the commercial market.

Man is the principal enemy of wildflowers. Sometimes he kills them with a smile—while picking a bouquet. And sometimes he destroys acres of them by thoughtlessly allowing spring fires to run in blazing fury through the brush and grasslands.

Fire An Enemy

Many of the flowers have shallow roots that grow in leaf mold. Others send green shoots up early in the spring. Fire will kill them effectively—unless burning is done very early in the year. From the standpoint of soil conservation, fire is an enemy of fertility and should never be used in land clearing.

Michigan law protects the flowers and some other plants and shrubs. It is unlawful to pick or offer for sale the following native wildflowers:

Trailing arbutus, birds foot violet, climbing bittersweet, club mosses, flowering dogwood, Michigan holly, North American lotus, pipsissewa, trilliums, gentians, and all native orchids without the written consent of the owner of the land on which they were grown.

Hard To Transplant

This law, if observed, would end most of the threat to the wildflowers of the state. But few persons observe the law because they see no harm in "picking a few flowers" found "growing wild" along the highways.

No weekend passes without thousands of people going to the woods for a springtime outing. Many of them are motorists from the cities. Often on their homeward trip their car is piled deep with wilting wildflowers. Sometimes these thoughtless flower lovers break off branches of shrubs or dig up plants and trees to decorate their homes.

The destruction of native flowers and shrubs has, in many places in the state, become a part of commerce. Instances are cited where great patches of the rare birds foot violet were dug, boxed, and sold in a city market. Yet the buyers were disappointed—for the violet does not grow well except in its natural habitat.

Cutting Arbutus

Arbutus is one of the most attractive of the spring flowers and the most sought for, in part because of its fragrant blossoms.

The arbutus plant is easily disturbed and killed unless the flowers are carefully picked. The blossoms should be cut from the trailing stem, for the stems are tough and one pull may tear up the roots and destroy the whole plant.

Hepatica, spring beauty, wood anemone, and adder's tongue or dogtooth violet are other flowers that now carpet the ground in many woodlands. Few of them keep well when picked and taken indoors, and the dogtooth violet will die if the bulb-nourishing leaves are plucked along with the flower.

Grownups as well as children like to pick wildflowers. Too many people are unable to resist the impulse to pick large bouquets, leaving none of the flowers to provide seed for a new crop in the year ahead. Frequent picking of the flowers will mean the disappearance of all of the prized blossoms that brighten Northern Michigan roadsides.

The Rare Orchids

Later in the year other native flowers show their colorful faces in Michigan woods. Violets, columbine, lupine, and the several rare wild orchids will bloom in the more inaccessible places, for they have been largely destroyed by over-picking in areas close to civilization.

The orchid, or lady's slipper, has several varieties in Michigan and some of them are so rare that botanists have never seen them in the wild. Many of them grow only in shaded swamps. Some, like the Calypso and Ram's Head orchid, are extremely rare and have been found only in a few places in the state.

May is the month of flowers. But each year has a month of May and the flowers must be admired without over-picking or there will be none to enjoy in the years ahead.

THE NEW USE—The youngsters of America will be glad to know that a new use has been found for castor oil—a use for other than medicinal purposes.

Dr. Leo L. Carlick of University of Michigan's department of chemical and metallurgical engineering, has found through experiments that castor oil added to paint gives it better sticking qualities. This paint is the kind to be used on highway surfaces in marking traffic lanes, and the castor oil makes it wear better.

Mixed in with the paint are particles of glass that give the paint a luminous quality at night. The state uses about 50,000 gallons of paint a year for road marking. The kids probably hope that includes several thousand gallons of castor oil.

TO EVERYONE—Children of toddling age have an affinity for flowers and no sense of property. An Escanaba mother discovered that to be true when her little girl came home clutching a bouquet of spring blossoms.

"But darling," the mother protested, "you know we don't have any flowers like that in our yard!"

"I know, mother," replied the round-eyed innocent, "but they've got lots of them over in the other yard."

CAMPAIGN POETRY—President Truman's "non-political" tour is still having political repercussions. The Republicans say what Harry did was not right and proper, because the taxpayers paid the bill.

Anyway, one thing was definitely wrong with the president's "non-political" appearance at Chicago stadium. It was a campaign song "Here's Harry!" written by a Chicago lady named Carolyn Gilbert. Not to bore you with too many exclamation points, we will present the song's description of the president:

Breadshouldered, friend of every man, a good solid resident, a real American, who gives us a helping hand, who knows the BV (your guess is as good as mine); so praise the Lord for, the Democratic way, the might it gives the U. S. A.; so cheer Harry, pal of farmer and labor, who loves his nation so, the whole country's neighbor, from Independence, Mo.! The Chicago poetess must be a Democrat.

THE BETTER PLACE—Many Delta county folks remember Ben Westrate, former county 4-H agent, and now assistant state 4-H club leader at Marquette. His working territory is now the entire Upper Peninsula.

No doubt they were as pleased as we were with the recent announcement that Westrate has been awarded a one-year scholarship to Syracuse university, where he will study agricultural education to better fit him for his job with 4-H clubs.

He will leave this coming fall for the university. Is he coming back to the U. P. after his year in school?

"I certainly will," Ben told me recently. "There are many things I want to do and I know I will be glad to get back after the one-year leave of absence."

His family will accompany him to the East to be near him while he is in school.

MUCH TO BE DONE—Ben amplified a bit on the work that he is doing now among Upper Peninsula young people, and what he hopes to do in the future.

It is his firm belief that the U. P., as a whole has sufficient resources and people of courage to make this area more independent in the future, with less dependence on "handouts."

The U. P. is not a worked-out, poverty-stricken area, but a land with a bright future, Ben is convinced. He wants to be a part of the team that will help bring that about.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Washington—Taking emergency action to halt modern history's most sensational break in wheat prices, Secretary Henry Wallace today asked the nation's grain futures market to peg prices at not less than today's closing quotations. The request, if the secretary's request is acceded to, would establish May wheat futures at 19 cents a bushel and May corn at 59½ cents a bushel at Chicago. The request followed a drop of 10 cents a bushel for the third time this week. Uncertainty over the war in Europe is believed responsible for the market drop.

Escanaba—William J. Miller was elected chairman and presided at the Delta County Democratic convention yesterday in the courthouse. President Franklin Roosevelt was given almost unanimous endorsement for a third term in a vote taken at the convention. The 60 persons attending the meeting, called by Gerald Cleary, county Democratic chairman, elected 33 delegates to the state convention at Flint. The Young Democrats, in a separate meeting, elected Elmer Vanleberghie, Jr., of Wells, as their chairman, to succeed C. P. Titus, who has resigned.

20 YEARS AGO

Escanaba—On the used car market, an Escanaba garage was advertising 1923 models at prices ranging from $295 to $325, and 1926 models (four years old) at prices varying from $225 to $375.

Escanaba—John Fredenburg yesterday was awarded the contract for rebuilding the dormitory of the county poor farm, destroyed this spring by fire. Construction will begin immediately.

Houghton—Escanaba won the Upper Peninsula track and field meet here yesterday for the third straight year. The Escanaba squad amassed a total of 71½ points.

Gladstone—C. A. LaFave, Jackson Stephenson and Joseph Sturgeon of the Gladstone City club will attend rate hearings in Green Bay tomorrow, held in connection with a petition by Standard Steamship company for a lower rate on lake-rail freight. The hearing is being held before the interstate commerce commission.

Tax Collections

Dear Editor:

The Federal Government is going farther in debt every day. Most people agree with me that we have just about reached the saturation point as far as taxes are concerned. If that be the case, then there are two things that must be done.

First, the Federal Government must trim its expenditures to the bone, and second, the Federal Government must enforce our tax laws so that everybody pays his share according to existing law. The tax-dodger is not only robbing the Federal Treasury, but he is robbing his neighbor who pays his tax.

When I was back in the District recently, Hal Whiteley, publisher of the Presque Isle Advance, and I discussed this very problem. Upon my return to Washington I checked with the Bureau of Internal Revenue and also our Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation, and we found that our enforcement policies concerning the collection of taxes are pretty much hit and miss.

Last year the Congress recommended to the Bureau of Internal Revenue that certain changes be effected which would expedite the enforcement of our tax laws. Some of the recommended changes have been placed in effect. At present the Bureau of Internal Revenue takes samples of tax returns and investigates them. It has been found that for every revenue agent who audits income estate and gift tax returns an average additional tax of $220,065 is collected for the Government. This is money that the Government would not have received, and which is owed the Government by taxpayers who intentionally or unintentionally failed to report their full income.

It has been estimated by some of our tax experts that if sufficient auditing were done by the Bureau of Internal Revenue that the Federal Government would be richer by at least two billion dollars per year. It is human nature for a person to falsify his true income for tax purposes if he has a neighbor who has been doing it for years and has gotten away with it. Therefore, this tendency to cheat the Government spreads. Of course, we all know that most individuals are honest and pay their full share of the tax, but these people are penalized by the tax-dodgers and this condition, if not corrected, may force Congress to increase the tax rate which would tend to further penalize the honest taxpayer.

I am working now with the Bureau of Internal Revenue and the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation to gather as much information as possible to determine how this situation can be corrected. It may be necessary to increase the number of Internal Revenue agents to provide a force which can do a more complete job of auditing. I am always reluctant to propose any legislation which will increase the number of Federal employees. However, the evidence shows that Bureau of Internal Revenue employees pay their own salary twenty times over by collecting taxes that are owed the Government and which the Government would not otherwise receive.

I have requested from the Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation certain information which I hope will serve as a basis for legislation.

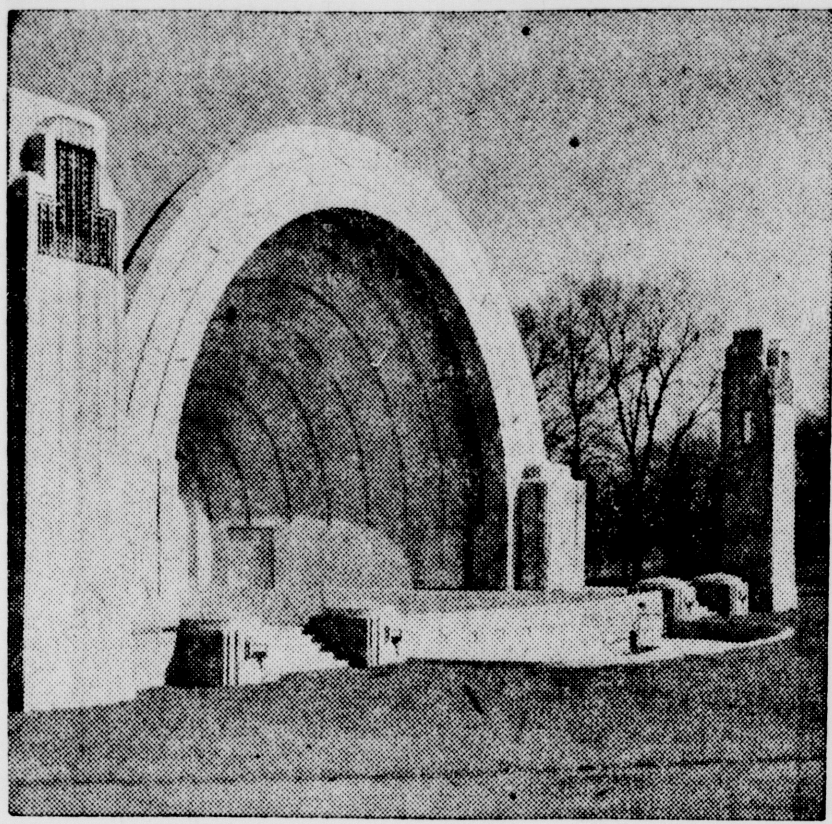

C. E. Potter, M. C.

Frank Karas, A Life Dedicated To Beauty

By Charles H. Larson

Frank Karas loved beauty where he found it. Where there was no beauty, he created it. Beautiful music. Beautiful flowers. Beautiful trees. A beautiful family life.

A native of Czechoslovakia, Frank Karas chose America as his home.

America gave much to Frank Karas. It gave him freedom. It gave him a chance to make a living at the thing he loved best — music, beautiful music.

America gave Frank Karas a chance to rear a family—a fine, talented, clean cut family—away from the constant fears and upheavals of strife-ridden, war-torn Europe.

America gave him a chance to enjoy the things he loved to do. To hunt, fish, plant flowers and trees and play and teach music.

But, in return, Frank Karas gave much.

First of all, he gave three years of his life from 1908 to 1911 to service in the United States army, mostly in the Philippines and Hawaii.

Making a living for his wife—Escanaba's kindly "Ma" Karas — and his two sons and two daughters was not always easy.

He worked as a file maker in Chicago and studied music.

Later at Menominee, he worked in a furniture factory, played in the band and gave music lessons.

When he came to Escanaba in 1924, he played in the Delft theater orchestra afternoons and evenings and taught private lessons in his spare time.

Those days were days of struggle to provide for a growing family.

Then he joined the public school faculty as a music teacher.

Through it all, he gave unselfishly of his time and ability as a musician to make Escanaba a finer place in which to live.

Few will ever know of the many long hours he gave without pay, playing solos for church services, memorial rites, school functions and other events where his music added so much.

Many a youngster, with a born love of music but without enough money to take lessons, got many hours of free instruction. Frank Karas never wanted a child to be denied a musical education. Often times, he even provided the instrument.

Those hours of unselfish devotion to the music, children and community he loved were hours that Frank Karas wanted to spend in his flower garden and in the woods.

In late years, he was able to spend many hours—not as many as he wanted, perhaps — at the Karas family cottage overlooking beautiful stretch of the "rushing Escanaba" river where the Squaw creek enters it near Boney Falls. There he and some of his music students planted almost a thousand Norway pines near the cottage. Many of them now are eight or ten feet tall.

Often he would take his grandson, Benny, on a tree planting jaunt. While he poked holes in the turf, Benny tagged along, dropping an acorn in each one. Although he didn't live to see the beauty of the oaks, he did get to enjoy the pines. So much did he love them that, after his legs had been amputated to halt a spreading infection, he would crawl, slowly, tortuously through them, pulling himself along the ground with his powerful shoulders and arms.

Often the short trip through the plot of pines down to the river bank took hours. But, though painful, they were hours of rapture of the beauties of the trees, the rushing water, the sunny skies that he would not long enjoy. He never complained. He was too happy and wanted to enjoy it while he could.

So devoted was he to this spot of rustic beauty and serenity that, in deference to his dying wish, his body was cremated and his ashes were scattered over the pines and the tumbling waters of the Escanaba from a plane by his son, Bill.

Yes, Frank Karas gave much to Escanaba. The community is immensely richer for his having stopped here along his way. Frank Karas died with only one known regret.

He dreamed for years of giving Escanaba music under the stars from an attractive bandshell on Ludington park's spacious lawn overlooking the lagoon.

Frank Karas never lived to realize the dream. Escanaba now has a chance to provide a useful, living memorial to the man who gave so much to Escanaba.

FRANK KARAS

Clara Karas Somers, member of the Escanaba public school faculty, carries on in school music where her father left off. Here she points to a bar she wants four former "Pa" Karas students

Mrs. Frank Karas—"Ma" to hundreds of former Escanaba high school students—sees that her grandchildren practice their music lessons. The trumpet is "manned" by Benny Karas, the piano by Tom Somers and the violin by Bob Karas. Benny and Bob are the sons of Bill Karas and Tom is the son of Clara Karas Somers.

Illinois Vote To Show Trend

Dirksen Will Give Lucas Hard Fight

By MARQUIS CHILDS

CHICAGO—You gather from a certain amount of activity that has just gone on here that an election is coming up fairly soon. But whether the big show was primarily concerned with a Congressional contest in the fall or a third term for President Truman in '52 is a question now that the souvenir vendors have packed up their wares and the crowd has melted away.

There is at least one individual who is vitally interested. Senator Scott Lucas of this state is faced with a tough fight to retain his seat and his place as Majority Leader in the Senate.

The Republican challenger is Everett Dirksen, a former Congressman with a warm, likeable personality and a friendly touch with crowds, not unlike that of Truman himself. For many months Dirksen has been going up and down the length and breadth of Illinois talking to big crowds and little crowds on every possible occasion.

Lucas in Trouble
Word was sent back to Lucas that he was in trouble, which may be one reason for the timing of the spectacle here. Lucas' position is believed to be stronger today than it was a month ago. And he is feeling more cheerful as a result of the promises and the praise, including Truman's blessing in his windup speech for the "excellent manner" in which Lucas as measured up to the "difficult task" of Majority Leader.

There are Fair Dealers in the Senate who would not agree with that praise. They have often in recent weeks grumbled at what they insist is Lucas' failure to go on the offensive and hit back at Republican attackers. They complain that they are held back and discouraged when they want to carry the fight to the enemy.

Lucas is not the crusading type. He inclines in general to the conservative point of view. And this is HIS election year. As he told a session of national committee-men and democratic officials:

"The national committee is not going to tell me what the issues are in this state. I'm going to set the issue myself."

He went on to make clear that one issue he would shun with determination and persistence was the Brannan farm plan. The Farm Bureau Federation has nearly 150,000 members in this state and the federation, through its president, Allan Kline, has declared war to the death on the plan that President Truman several times plugged in the course of his Western swing.

Arvey Is Boss

In the scales in which victory is weighed, organization would in this state seem to press at least as hard as issues. Jacob M. Arvey, Chicago's Democratic boss, is generally conceded to have a firm grip on the wards that produce the big mass vote. Some even go so far as to say that through a kind of holding company operation, Arvey controls the Republicans as well as the Democratic organization in these wards. And that might mean some kind of "deal" in the fall which would upset Dirksen's bravest hopes.

Certainly, on the organization side Dirksen is handicapped. Former Governor Dwight Green, discredited, defeated by a majority that astonished practically everybody, including his opponent, Adlai Stevenson, left behind a lot of wreckage.

What remains of the party organization is torn by conflicts. The results of the debacle of 1948 are still apparent. So Dirksen has pretty much singlehandedly been doing the job.

The main issue he has chosen to fight on is a return to isolation, with communism in government as a sideshow. Dirksen tells his audiences that he believed at one time in the Marshall Plan and European co-operation, but he decided that it was Operation Rathole—simply a waste of the taxpayers' money. We've got, he says, to take Europe off the

Clever Politician

During his tour the President took exactly the opposite line. At almost every stop he told the crowds that America had to help sustain the free nations in order to insure peace in the world. He linked this effort directly with the prosperity and well-being of each community in which he spoke.

Harold Stassen the other day called Truman the best politician and the worst President ever to occupy the White House. The reporters who have gone all the way with the President would be inclined to agree with the first part of that statement. But if Truman's political acumen is of that magnitude, then he must have decided that what the people really want is co-operation and assistance to other nations struggling with the threat of communism.

With due allowance made for the power of organization, Illinois this fall may prove to be a good testing ground for the two points of view. And the outcome is likely to cast a much longer shadow than those of us who are living in this time can possibly appreciate.

Grandmother Plans To Study For College Degree

A grandmother who received her high school education in Rapid River is planning to fulfill her life-long ambition, study for a university degree.

She is Mrs. D. K. Johnson of Mitchell, S. D., who was Opal Sutherland before her marriage.

Mrs. Johnson, whose children are grown and married, finds that she now has the leisure to do the thing she has always wanted to and she has written to Supt. Peters for a transcript of her credits of 1906.

The Sutherlands will be remembered by many residents of Rapid River. Members of the family formed the Sutherland orchestra here and staged home talent plays. Mrs. Johnson and her husband now own and manage Glenwood Springs Park at Mitchell.

Guardian of Love

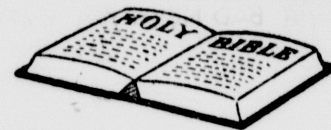

Mr. and Mrs. Chirp are very very busy these Spring mornings. It takes most of their time to keep their children well supplied with worms and other dainty morsels on which fledglings thrive.

And they must be careful to return shortly lest some enemy disturb the nest. Too often Mr. and Mrs. Chirp have had to defend their children from danger. But always they have fought with all their might, and through their love have saved the babies from calamity.

And so it is that every living thing dwells in danger. Man especially must guard against evils; for in him they threaten body, mind, and soul. He, like the fledglings, must depend on some power greater and stronger than himself—a guardian of love.

"GOD is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble." To Him we must look for love and protection. To His Church we must come for salvation.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Warn Children On Trespassing

Michigan Railroads Fear Accidents

LANSING—With the approach of summer vacation the state's railroad police, aided by the Michigan Railroads Association, are sending out pleas to parents, guardians, service groups, directors of various youth organizations, juvenile authorities, city, county and state police, newspapers and radio stations for aid in keeping children off railroad property.

Juvenile trespassing and depredations on railroad property in Michigan during 1949 were alarming, according to H. D. Whitlock, Detroit, Special Agent, Railway Express Agency and President of the Michigan Railroad Police Association. "With the approach of vacation we are much concerned in preventing injuries and fatalities to unlawful trespassers, especially boys and girls of school age. Many of them do not realize it is never safe to play on or near the railroad tracks or that their mischievous pranks too often result in death or going through life with only one arm or one leg or otherwise badly crippled; or that their actions often mean fatalities or injuries to passengers and railroad employees and cause tremendous damage to property.

"According to Interstate Commerce Commission's preliminary figures, trespassing casualties in 1949 killed 1,230, injured 1,069, which accounted for 36.5 percent of all fatalities from all causes. Notwithstanding that it is unlawful in most states to trespass on railroad property, 595,570 persons, the majority of them school-age children, were ejected but not prosecuted by the country's railroad police in 1949, an increase of 6.4 percent over 1948. It is encouraging to report that there were 22 fewer persons killed and 57 fewer persons injured than in 1948. Now we hope for even better results in 1950.

"I want to say to the boys and girls: Your first duty to your country, to your family and to yourself is—think and play safely. Don't play or trespass on or near the railroad. Stay away—stay alive."

Soil District Vote Tuesday

Creation Of Delta Unit Scheduled

Owners of rural lands in Delta county will go to the polls Tuesday, May 23, in a referendum to establish a proposed county soil conservation district and to elect three members of a district board of directors.

Establishment of the soil conservation district is designed to assist farmers and other owners of land in knowing and practicing recommended soil conservation measures.

The referendum on the proposed establishment of the Delta soil conservation district was ordered by the state soil conservation committee following a public hearing in Escanaba earlier this spring. At that time testimony was presented assuring the state committee that soil conservation problems existed in the county.

Women Staff Polls
In preparation for the referendum, William Harrison of Lansing, assistant secretary of the soil conservation service, met yesterday afternoon with a group of Home Extension club members of the county who will staff the polling places next Tuesday. The Home Extension club members volunteered their services to relieve the men, who are busy with spring farm work.

Besides the "yes" and "no" question of the soil conservation district, the land owners will elect three of six nominees as district directors. The nominees are as follows:

Harold Gustafson of Ensign, Bob Watchorn of Fayette, Edwin Walimay of Rock, Grey Knaus and Clayton Ford of Cornell, and Edwin Bergman of Bark River.

The three receiving the largest vote will be elected. In addition, for the first year, the state committee will appoint two directors.

The polls will be open from 1 to 3 and 7 to 9 at the following places:

Garden community building for Garden and Fairbanks townships; Alton Grange hall for Ensign and Nahma townships; Stonington Grange hall for Bay De Noc township; Masonville town hall for Masonville township; Cornell town hall for Cornell township; Maple Ridge town hall for Maple Ridge township; Baldwin town hall for Baldwin and Brampton townships; Flat Rock town hall for Escanaba township; Danforth school for Wells township; Ford River town hall for Ford River township; Bark River community building for Bark River township.

All men and their wives who are owners of three or more acres of land in Delta county outside the cities of Escanaba and Gladstone are eligible to vote.

Modern Science Didn't Get Atteo Out Of Hole

By ROBERT C. RUARK
I have been brooding a bit about Dominick Atteo, the man who died here recently because we couldn't get him out of a hole.

It wasn't a very deep hole, either, only 18 feet, but he was in that hole 27 1/2 hours and when they got him out he was dead.

It seems to me that Dominick Atteo is an eloquent lecture on what's wrong with us today. We have sonar and radar and television and jet propulsion and guided missiles and snorkel submarines and ACTH and bubble gum and vitamin pills and economic wizards and psychiatrists and artificial rainmakers and machines that think.

But we couldn't get a well-digger out of a hole he was stuck in time to save his life. All the massed knowledge of modernity wasn't good enough to get one guy out of a hole. Since we all fall in a personal hole, at one time or another, you suddenly stop dead and begin to wonder what good are all the frills if they can't get one guy out.

Shoes Out of Glass

We used to build an airship practically overnight, during the war, and the Seabees turned the jungles into cities in a few weeks. When the Russians threw the Berlin blockade at us we organized an airlift to perform colossal tasks of supply. We split atoms as casually as we used to chop kindling. We make shoes out of glass and clothes out of milk and furniture out of resin.

But here is a guy in a hole, grinning at first, and talking to his wife, and talking to his kids, and joking with the rescuers, and the concentrated efforts of the greatest city of the greatest country in the world couldn't haul him loose from a little 18-foot well.

You are suddenly stricken with the panic that comes upon this vast city when a few simple things go wrong. It doesn't rain and the citizen is filibustered into awareness that he must go unattended.

A trucking strike turns the city panicky. So does a dock tieup. An elevator operator walkout creates confusion and shakes the lives of the citizens upside down. A phone strike paralyzes the nation. So does a train strike.

These are all relatively simple things; a shortage of water, a restriction of communication, a curtailment of food, a depletion of fuel, a vertical roadblock before a man's home. But they embrace the basic necessities of living and we seem helpless to cope with them while performing miracles abstractly and talking loudly about planned economies for us and the rest of the globe.

"Get Me Out Of Here"

A man in a hole cares not one silly whit for the fate of the Indonesians or the latest meeting of Foreign Ministers. A man who can't get enough water to bathe in is uninterested in the latest development in rocket warfare. A man who can't get into his house without tremendous trouble is suddenly unconcerned with ideology. The Marshall Plan, the tremendous taxes, the sweeping schemes for world reorganization, are nothing to a man in his own personal hole.

"Get me out of here!" he cries. "Get me out, and we will talk of generalities later."

It seems to me the failures of modern, all-pervading, paternal government is wrapped up in our failure to get Dominick Atteo out of his hole.

We run in circles. We have

Negro Woman Gets Sight Back At 115

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A new world has opened for Mary Brooks at the age of 115.

Blind for many years because of cataracts on both eyes, the aged Negro woman has had her sight restored through surgery at Gallinger hospital.

She was brought to the hospital by officials of the Little Sisters of the Poor Home, for treatment of her leg arteries. The Sisters asked that the doctors see, too, if they could do anything for her eyes.

Thursday she was given her first pair of glasses. To test her vision, a doctor held up a piece of fruit and asked her if she could identify it.

"Yes," she said. "It's my orange. Put it down."

arms. We second-guess his presence in the hole. We invoke recipes for getting everybody, everywhere, out of holes. But when we finally get Dominick Atteo out of his hole, Dominick Atteo is dead. Not of bombing, not of radioactivity. From being stuck in a hole. Only 18 feet deep.

Award Diplomas At Bark River

Casey Wiggins Is Guest Speaker

Twenty-three seniors from the Bark River-Harris high school received their diplomas at commencement exercises held last night at the Bark River community building.

Casey Wiggins, professor of business administration at Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, was guest speaker. He was introduced by Leo Brunelle, superintendent of Bark River-Harris schools.

Leslie Good, president of the board of education, presented diplomas to graduating students, and Miss Marion Flynn, faculty member, presented student awards.

The processional and recessional were played by Richard Lucke. Elizabeth Noblet gave the address of welcome, after which the three honor students gave addresses on the theme "The Shape of Things to Come." Delbert Herbeck addressed graduates on "Forces Shaping the Present," Patrick Bergman discussed "The Situation Today," and Joanne Iverson outlined "The Emerging Future." Kenneth M. Allen was guest soloist of the exercises. Seniors sang their class song following presentation of diplomas. Rev. Bernard Karel was in charge of benediction.

Seniors who received their diplomas were Patrick Bergman, Bernetta Bower, Barbara Chermack, John Clark, Ruth Czapkowski, Howard and Leonard Erickson, Jacqueline Gauthier, James Good, Delbert Herbeck, Adola Hojnacki, Joanne Iverson, LeRoy Johnson, Evelyn Luchay, Richard Luchay, Dale Nault, Flora Nelson, Betty Noblet, Agnes Panek, Elva Peterson, Barbara Schoen, Joyce Sharkey and Francis Smith.

Delbert Herbeck, Patrick Bergman and Joanne Iverson, the three highest ranking students in the class, received trophies presented by the Bergman Insurance agency, and Bernetta Bower and LeRoy Johnson received the Lions club pen and pencil award for outstanding citizenship and community spirit.

Youth Meeting Opens Today

176 Attending White
House Conference

The Upper Peninsula White House conference on the problems of children and youth opened here this morning with 176 participants registered to noon today. John A. Lemmer of Escanaba, member of the Michigan Youth commission, presided at the opening session.

Speakers this morning were Mrs. Margaret Price of Ann Arbor, chairman of the Michigan Youth commission, and Dr. John Dorsey of Detroit, professor of psychiatry at Wayne university.

Mrs. Price, who also is chairman of the advisory council for state and local action for the White House conference, outlined reasons for the conference and some of the problems which the Michigan Youth commission recognizes.

Problems of children and youth are for the whole community to consider, Mrs. Price emphasized, and must be worked out jointly to provide a climate which will develop healthy personalities.

This working close together is part of a world picture, and is reaching down to the community level, she observed.

Work With Youth

Factors which give concern to the youth commission today are the 15 per cent increase in the use of facilities for child care due to the increase in births since the beginning of World War II; the steadily expanding labor force, which will strain facilities for keeping youth gainfully occupied; the large number of students who do not complete high school; the high incidence of divorce, and the fact that one of twenty of today's children will at sometime need hospitalization for mental illness.

Mrs. Price urged conference participants to remember to talk with youth about youth problems, not "about" and "for" youth. The Michigan Youth commission has three members who are 21 or under. Mrs. Price pointed out.

Doctor Dorsey re-emphasized Mrs. Price's recommendation that leadership must be developed for a sane world, and added that it is necessary also to recognize wholesome leadership available today.

"Integration of self is a sacred obligation of every individual," Doctor Dorsey noted. He pointed out that the best way to do a better job in the community is to improve oneself, and set a good example.

Most problems in metropolitan centers could be solved by increasing the distance between people, the psychiatrist noted. In communities where life is congested and human life may come to be regarded as cheap, two kinds of feelings, guilt and blame are often misused, Professor Dorsey explained.

Groups Overburdened

Some persons may use a feeling of guilt in holding to the conviction that they don't have to improve or better themselves, and again the feeling of guilt may be turned outward and used to blame or censure neighbors, he noted.

Doctor Dorsey cited that state and federal agencies, schools, the clergy and families are doing their best in the field of mental health, but need help because most are overburdened.

In concluding, the Wayne university professor pointed out that a community is working well if individuals in it are trying to attain strength of mind to recognize both the privilege and responsibility it has in being able to live near others; if it realizes that mental health must be earned and maintained; if it realizes that the only real wealth is self-possession and it is mankind's greatest good; when it uses individual strength of mind in humanizing the divine influence of love; and when the community cherishes democracy and has reverence for the individuality of each person.

Two verses from Genesis were cited by the psychiatry professor in emphasizing the importance of language and understanding in community relationships.

The White House conference here is the eighth regional meeting held in Michigan to discuss children and youth problems. Reports from the seven previous conferences are already being used by the Michigan Youth commission.

This afternoon participants held sectional meetings on physical and mental health, education, protective services for children, recreation, and religion and family living.

Sophomore, 49, To See Son Receive Diploma

NEWARK, Del.—(P)—A 49-year-old sophomore will see his son get a diploma at the University of Delaware's annual commencement exercises June 6.

Receiving his sheepskin in business administration will be Frank H. Horner, Jr., 24, of Wilmington, Del., a Navy veteran of World War 2.

Witnessing the ceremony will be his father, Frank H. Horner, Sr., a sophomore in school of education. The elder Horner also is a veteran of the last World War.

Returning from service with General Patton's Third Army, the elder Horner said he decided to enter college because he was "fed up with being nice to people." He thinks teaching will be better because "you don't have to worry about pupils taking their business to the school on the next corner."

Escanaba Quartette Sings Saturday In Iron Mountain Parade

The Four Tissimos, Escanaba barber shop quartette, will sing Saturday night in the annual spring concert of the Iron Mountain SPEBSQSA chapter. Members of the local quartette are: Ken Thompson, Lowell Sundstrom, Art Jensen and Ernie Petersen.

This will be the second concert performance of the season for the Escanaba singers, who were on the program of the Sault Ste. Marie barber shop parade last month. An Iron Mountain quartette, the Mischoris, is scheduled to take part in the annual Escanaba barber shop quartette concert Oct. 22.

Lansing Quad Girls Observe 20th Birthday

LANSING—(P)—Lansing's Morlok quadruplets planned to celebrate their 20th birthday today with "as little fuss as possible."

"I'm right in the middle of spring housecleaning," the mother of the four girls explained, "so the girls don't want me to make any fuss about it. We'll have a little family party though and I'm going to bake a cake."

The Morlok quads, Edna A., Wilma B., Sarah C. and Helen D., are believed to be Michigan's only living quadruplets. They were born 20 years ago today to Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Morlok.

The initials indicate the order of their arrival and the first names correspond with the first letters of the location of the event—the Edward W. Sparrow hospital.

The four girls, who formerly dressed alike and went everywhere as a unit, now are individuals.

Edna is a clerk in the Ingham county health department, Wilma, between jobs at the moment, is helping her mother with the spring housecleaning. Sarah is secretary for a Lansing law firm. Helen is at home recovering from a bout of rheumatic fever.

Briefly Told

Restaurant Fire—The Escanaba fire department was called to Bell's Coffee Shop this morning when grease on a grill ignited. The blaze was quickly controlled with the use of chemicals.

Vietzke Funeral—Services for Carl Vietzke will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 at St. Martin's Lutheran church in Rapid River with Rev. Theophile Hoffmann officiating and burial will be in Rapid River cemetery. The body will be taken from the Kelley funeral home in Gladstone to the church at 11 noon, Sunday.

Iron Mountain BSQ Concert Saturday

IRON MOUNTAIN, Mich.—Northwoods chapter of S.P.E.B.S. Q.S.A. will present its fourth annual barbershop quartet show Saturday night at the high school auditorium. Featured will be the Antlers quartet of Flint, which placed third in the International competition at Buffalo, N. Y., last year. Other quartets are entered from Marquette and Escanaba and from chapters in Illinois, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Benjamin Shields, St. Jacques, Dies

Benjamin Shields, 63, of St. Jacques, dropped dead of a heart attack yesterday as he was walking from Nahma where he had received medical treatment, to his home. The body was taken to the Allo funeral home. He is survived by his wife and several brothers and sisters.

Guild Meeting—Mrs. Katherine McNally was hostess to Guild member Wednesday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Paul Guertin. During the social period Mrs. Willett of Garden Corners solved the largest number of Monicker Masquerades. Mrs. William Winter will be hostess for the June 7 meeting.

Final Meeting—Van's Harbor pinocle players closed the season's activities Tuesday night with a dinner at the Paul Bunyan restaurant followed by a theatre party in Manistiquie.

Persons—Mr. and Mrs. Max Wakeman and family of Marquette spent the weekend here with relatives.

Mrs. Anna Helgason, who spent the winter with her sister Mrs. Peter Gustafson, left Sunday morning to visit Mrs. Bovine of Evanston, Ill. She was accompanied by Harley Dalgord and Eugene Swanson of Fayette who took the former's sister Evelyn, who will be employed in that locality.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter McNally and son and Lawrence Whitman of Escanaba were guests of Walter's mother, Mrs. Katherine McNally, Sunday.

Mrs. Ray Bero and son Pat of Escanaba visited her mother Mrs. Mary McPhee the latter part of last week to help with housecleaning.

Mrs. Nora Lester left by bus Friday to spend the weekend with the family of her daughter, Mrs. Robert Tatrow of St. Ignace.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT WEAPON—One of the auxiliary weapons used in anti-aircraft fire is the 50-caliber machine gun which is pictured above in the Escanaba National Guard Armory, 400 North 23rd street. That's Tom Wilkinson, of Escanaba, doing the firing—trying it out for size. The occasion was a recent "open house" such as the local unit will have tomorrow. The public is invited to inspect this and similar weapons at the Armory tomorrow in connection with Escanaba's observance of the first Armed Forces Day. (Escanaba Press Photo)

Armed Forces Day Takes Over All Service Days

By CLARGE BEACH
WASHINGTON — (P)—The military services will pass through one more step in their somewhat painful unification process on Armed Forces Day May 20. They'll be cheering for one another and jointly putting on parades, demonstrations and parties.

But many of the celebrants will undoubtedly be sadly recalling the past, when each service had a day of its own.

The last individual celebration was Army Day, April 6, 1949—the anniversary of America's entry into the first World War. That afternoon President Truman and Secretary of Defense Johnson watched a parade. That night Johnson spoke to the Military Order of World Wars, a civilian organization of ex-Army officers who had promoted and sponsored Army Day from its origin in 1928.

No Individual Days
Johnson took the occasion to announce to his hosts that they were celebrating their last Army Day. He and the President, he said, had decided that afternoon there would be no more individual "days," that in the interest of unification they'd all get together in 1950 on one day. His hosts received the announcement coldly.

On Aug. 30, 1949, Johnson announced that Armed Forces Day would be celebrated on the third Saturday in May. When the time came for Air Force Day, the second Saturday in September, the occasion passed unnoticed. It had been celebrated only once—in 1948 commemorating the founding of the Air Force Sept. 17, 1917.

Secretary of the Navy Matthews chose Navy Day, Oct. 27, 1949, as the occasion for dismissing the popular Chief of Naval Operations, Adm. Louis E. Denfeld. It was a double blow to many Navy men. They missed the old-time fanfare and public demonstrations. And many of them had warmly approved Denfeld's criticism of the cuts in Navy strength in hearings before Congress.

The Navy had been celebrating its day since 1922. It had been sponsored by the Navy League, another civilian organization. It commemorated the founding of the Navy in October 1775 and the birth of President Theodore Roosevelt, a "big Navy" man.

When the time came for the Marine Corps Birthday, Nov. 10, the corps fared better than its brother services. Johnson let the Marines continue to celebrate on their own, as long as it was just a family birthday party. They held formations of troops, gave parties, cut cakes—all on their own reservations. Inside Smokestack May Be Safest Spot In Atomic Attacks

MOBILE, Ala.—(P)—Where's the safest place to hide, if you are caught in an atomic bomb attack? It might be inside a smokestack, says a U. S. atomic energy commission consultant, who studied effects of the Hiroshima and Nagasaki explosions.

Col. Elbert DeCoursey said he based the conclusion on the fact that few smokestacks were knocked down in the two Japanese cities.

Col. DeCoursey addressed the Gulf Coast Pharmaceutical society here yesterday. He was a member of the joint commission which studied effects of the two 1945 atomic bomb explosions in Japan. Later he was on the Navy staff at Bikini for the 1946 operation crossroads explosion.

necks had been making a big occasion of the birthday since 1921. The date is the anniversary of the founding of the corps at Tun Tavern, in Philadelphia, in 1775.

No "Marine Day"
Actually there had never been a "Marine Day." There had been only limited public participation in the birthday celebrations. The other services used their days, however, to drum up public support—to interest Congressmen and recruits. Thus a unified Armed Forces Day does eliminate considerable competition among the services, both for appropriations and manpower.

There are still anniversary celebrations within the various services. Some companies or squadrons holding distinguished unit citations celebrate privately on the date they were cited. And some branches of the Army, such as the Quartermaster, Signal or Engineers Corps, have annual parties.

The Navy League intends to observe Navy Day hereafter by holding memorial services for sailors buried at sea. The services always had been a feature of the day's celebrations. When the league didn't hold them last year, it caught considerable criticism. Whether the Navy will be allowed to participate officially in the league's memorial services has not been announced.

August Nelson, 88, West Ford River, Dies, Rites Monday

August Nelson, 88, old-time resident of West Ford River, died yesterday at the home of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wittlock.

He was born in Varmland, Sweden, January 7, 1862, and had lived in West Ford River for 59 years. He farmed until his health failed. He was a member of the Lutheran church.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Wittlock and Mrs. Ernest Martin, Escanaba; three sons, Albin of Escanaba; Carl H. of Milwaukee and Wilbert Benson of Escanaba; ten grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Gustav Lund at 2 p. m. Monday at the Anderson funeral home with burial in Lakeview cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home beginning Sunday afternoon.

Appropriations Asked For Faster Warplanes And New Sub Weapons

WASHINGTON—(P)—Money for a speedup in developing faster warplanes and new anti-submarine weapons was recommended today by the House Appropriations committee.

The two items were included in a $625,492,694 appropriation bill sent to the House. A House vote is expected next week.

The committee recommended $75,000,000 for the plane development program. The program is being handled by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics (NACA) which had asked only $5,000,000 in cash and $15,000,000 in contract authority to begin a wind tunnel project to test models of faster airplanes.

Program Here In Afternoon

Ludington And 11th
Streets At 2 P. M.

The first Armed Forces day will be celebrated in Escanaba tomorrow, May 20.

This day, the third Saturday in May, has been chosen, with the approval of the President, to honor the Armed Forces which make possible the defense and security of the nation. It replaces the separate service days observed in the past.

In Escanaba the formal celebration will consist of ceremonies on the corner of Ludington street and 11th street beginning promptly at 2 o'clock, followed by an open house at the National Guard Armory.

Director Robert S. Meyers will lead a massed band consisting of members of both the senior high school and the Escanaba junior high school bands. The massed band will be composed of more than 80 musicians and will provide musical selections throughout the program.

Address by Greene

One of the highlights of the program will be an address by former Lieutenant Commander of the Navy John L. Greene. Mr. Greene will give a timely talk on the importance of a unified fighting force and the necessity of adequate defense. Lt. Comdr. Greene served in the Pacific Theater of Operations during the war.

A composite color guard consisting of one of each of the Armed Forces will precede a crack drill team of Company C, 107th Engr. Combat Battalion in a march exhibition from the junior high school to 11th street where the ceremonies will take place.

Drill Team Exhibition

The drill team will put on an exhibition in front of the platform and will feature many of the snappy movements which were displayed in the motion picture film, "Battle Ground."

In the afternoon there will be an open-house at the National Guard Armory to which the public is invited. Feature length movies of World War II will be shown continuously and visitors will be able to inspect the equipment and arms of the local Company C, 107th Engr. (C) Bn.

Warren Cleary, member of the American Legion, will be the master of ceremonies.

Senate Balky On Seizure Bill

LANSING — (P)—The Senate balked yesterday at House attempts to put a time limit on a bill broadening the police powers of conservation officers. The bill was sent to a House-Senate conference.

Senate supporters insisted there was no necessity for the House amendment which would end the life of the broader powers in 18 months unless extended again by the legislature.

The bill would give conservation officers the powers of police officers and allow them to make searches and seizures without warrant if upon "reasonable belief" a crime has been committed. Indicative of the end of the session, the Senate and House ordered a host of interim studies and investigation.

These included investigation of the state liquor control commission and studies of the availability of medical care and hospitalization, workmen's compensation laws, the feasibility of building a state office building at Escanaba, the desirability of a state employee's loyalty board, codification of the school law, and the desirability of dissolving old mineral reservations on northern land. The House approved a lease form for a new state office building in Lansing.

Senate Takes Rest
Other rumors were heard that the Republicans still in control despite the whittling of their majority to 53 by illness and death, had some parliamentary tricks up their sleeve which would cut off the filibuster and ram the budget through debate today and final vote Saturday.

Under present rules, a vote is not possible until then. Gossip was that the Republicans planned wholesale rule changes by passing entirely new rules, which, they contended, takes only a majority vote.

Democrats, by controlling more than a third of the votes, can block rule suspensions which require two-thirds votes.

The Senate was taking a rest today, but a meeting was scheduled for Saturday. Thus with the Senate poised to concur in House action, the state was set for the hoped-for Saturday adjournment.

Corporation Privilege Tax Ceiling Taken Off By House Bill

LANSING—(P)—The House today approved a bill removing the time-honored $50,000 ceiling on payments of the corporation privilege tax.

The measure passed, without debate, by a 73-11 vote. The Democrats made a second attempt to substitute Governor Williams' corporation profits tax for the bill but were defeated on a strict party vote.

Last night Democrats joined all but 11 Republicans to crush a motion by Rep. Howard R. Carroll (R-Mt. Clemens) to kill the bill by sending it back to committee.

Gene Autry Settles Playsuit Injury Case

NEW YORK—(P)—A $200,000 damage suit against Gene Autry, radio and film star, and others, brought on behalf of a Saginaw, Mich., boy who was burned while wearing a cowboy suit, has been settled.

Chief Judge John C. Knox in U. S. district court filed a memorandum stating only, "Case settled," but giving no details.

The suit was brought last year on behalf of James Ikner, Jr., by his mother, Mrs. Ann Ikner.

Escanaba Is Headquarters For Recruiting By Army

The Escanaba recruiting main station is the headquarters for recruiting for the Air Force and Army in the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Enlistees from the U. P. are processed and enlisted at the Escanaba Station. Sergeants Williams, Scherer, Olson, and McQuay are the local recruiters for Delta, Schoolcraft and Dickinson Counties. There are six other recruiting stations in the Upper Peninsula.

T/Sgt. Spencer Mathison is Sergeant Major and S/Sgt. Roma Grebe is the WAC/WAF recruiter for the Sector. Three civilian employees also engage in processing activities at the local station.

During the last two years the Escanaba Sector has achieved an enviable record and is considered one of the best in the Fifth Army Area which comprises 13 states.

The Sector is commanded by Captain Warren A. DeLattie and Lt. Buckingham is the executive officer.

Road Truck Crashes Through Days River Bridge At Perkins

A Delta county road commission light truck went through a bridge on county road G-17, west of Perkins, shortly before noon today and turned upside down in the Days river.

John Seppanen of Rock, driver of the truck, crawled out of the cab to safety. He was taken to a Gladstone physician for examination. His injuries were slight.

The 1½ ton dump truck was partly loaded with gravel. After the truck crashed through the wood bridge and landed upside down in the water Seppanen escaped by opening a window and crawling out. He was alone in the truck.

End Of Lawmaking Term In Lansing Sought Saturday

House minority would make only a token resistance.

Other rumors were heard that the Republicans still in control despite the whittling of their majority to 53 by illness and death, had some parliamentary tricks up their sleeve which would cut off the filibuster and ram the budget through debate today and final vote Saturday.

Deep In Red

The Republican budget, which is $15,000,000 below current expenditures, was passed in the Senate at dawn Thursday after nearly 18 hours of continuous session.

The budget is $73,000,000 less than Governor Williams recommended, but it would still leave the state $20,000,000 or more in the red next year.

The House Democrats had a brief tussle with the measure when it was reported out by the House Ways and Means committee last night.

The committee recommended 32 amendments to the voluminous bill. The amendments were all technical and no changes in the total appropriation were proposed.

The Democrats blocked the customary motion to consider the amendments read, and for a few minutes, it looked like the marathon was on. But Rep. Michael J. O'Brien (D-Detroit), the only Democratic member of the committee, made the motion a second time, and the Democratic opposition vanished.

Truman FEPC Measure Killed

WASHINGTON — (P)—The Senate virtually killed the Fair Employment Practices (FEPC) bill for the session today by refusing to block filibustering by southern opponents.

The test came on an attempt to choke off debate on a motion to bring before the Senate for consideration this key measure of President Truman's Civil Rights program.

A cloture (debate limiting) petition fell short by 12 votes of getting the required 64 for adoption. A roll call showed 52 "yes" and 32 "no" votes.

Grounded Freighter Free At Gull Island

CHARLEVOIX — (P)—The grounded freighter Yank Canuck was pulled free of a northern Lake Michigan shoal today and proceeded toward Sault Ste. Marie under its own power.

Emergency repairs of minor damage to the ship's hull were being made enroute.

Two tugs from Green Bay and one from the Soo succeeding in moving the 253-foot Canadian vessel off a Gull Island shoal on which it had been hung up since early Wednesday.

The Coast Guard cutters Sundew and Mackinaw stood by during the rescue operation, their tremendous power untapped for fear it might damage the freighter's wooden hull.

Plane Injures Boy, 12, With Telephone Pole

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—(P)—A 12-year-old boy was critically hurt yesterday by a section of a telephone pole whip-lashed hundreds of feet when an airplane snagged a wire.

The youth, Gary Lee Pennington, Tenn., was under treatment by a brain surgeon at a hospital here.

An uncle, A. C. Mackabee, said the underpart of the plane became entangled with telephone wire, snapped off a pole about half-way from the ground, and carried it through the air.

The plane, coming in for a landing at a private field near the Pennington home, lashed the pole against the boy.

The plane landed without further mishap, the uncle said. Law enforcement officers at LaFollette had no record of the accident.

Naval Reserve Is Active Here

Meetings Are Held
On Monday Nights

By ROBERT C. HAVEN
The ninth naval district, United States Naval Reserve, volunteer composite unit 9-60, was officially activated on Oct. 4, 1949.

It was formed from a nucleus of 10 ex-officers and enlisted men who had been meeting informally over a period of a year at private homes about once a month in a more or less social way.

We tried to get an organized unit established here which would provide a quonset hut and a ship and pay for the members but were informed that in view of the population being less than 50,000 and the shortage of naval funds for the Reserve that this would not be possible. The unit would have to be on a non-pay volunteer basis.

Several specialized types of volunteer unit were considered and rejected in view of the great variety of classifications of our members. We have line, dental, supply corps and aviation and submarine personnel as well as many diversified ratings.

The answer was a composite unit and it appears to fit the situation nicely. For such units there is no fixed course of instruction. We work out our own submit it to the commandant of the 9th Naval District at Great Lakes for approval, and order out interesting movies on a loan basis which cover a wide variety of subjects. Speakers of discussion leaders are found right in the unit to fit almost any type of naval work and we pull in others when they are available. The program is very flexible. Sometimes we meet aboard a visiting ship.

MP Units Are Located Here

2 Military Police Detachments Formed

Escanaba is the headquarters of the 446th and 475th military police investigation detachments. A criminal investigation detachment has as its mission, both in combat areas and in the United States, investigation of all crimes in which military personnel, civilians employed by the U. S. Army and in which government property is involved.

The twenty-man detachments are responsible only to a theatre commander and because of the nature of its duties is given wide latitude. The agents assigned to the unit are all trained in phases of investigative work such as undercover, fingerprinting, crime scene search, interrogation, surveillance, photography, arrests, raids and other such phases of police work.

In addition, however, each man in the unit must be a trained soldier with a thorough knowledge of such basic subjects as map reading, first aid, close order drill, army weapons, chemical warfare, etc.

The investigators usually operate in civilian clothing and often work in pairs when given an assignment. A C.I.D. unit works in close liaison with civil police authorities and in time of war, assists in the establishment of a local civilian police unit which may have been disrupted by the armed conflict.

The 475th MP CID was activated in March 1949, with Lt. Theodore J. Sura as its commanding officer. In December of 1949, the unit was advanced to a class "A" unit, the only such reserve unit in the Upper Peninsula, authorizing forty-eight pay meetings a year. Lt. Donald P. Moen was recently assigned to the 475th as second in command.

During a recent inspection trip by Lt. Col. W. O. Baker, plans and training officer and Major Raymond A. Knox, adjutant, from the office of the senior army instructors office, Detroit, headquarters for reserve activities in the state of Michigan, the local reserve units were advised that the 475th MP CID was considered one of the three best reserve units in the state.

The 446th MP CID, also located in Escanaba, commanded by Capt. Carroll J. Lundeen, with Lt. Duncan Cameron as second in command, is an ultimate class "A" unit, having recently been inspected for advancement. Upon being recognized as a class "A" unit the 446th MP CID will be identical to the 475th MP CID and will be trained together. Members of 446th Military Police, Criminal Investigation Division are: Carroll Lundeen, Duncan Cameron, David Alperovitz, William C. Servant, Leonard N. Mulhaupt, Abe Chern, Paul G. Faircloth, Francis J. Derocher, Arden H. Dybevik, Donald J. Martin, Robert A. White, Marvin E. Erickson, Wallace E. Lars, Francis R. Lesica, Clement W. Skopp, Vincent L. Dambrosio, George F. Crimm, Robert J. Crepeau and Lt. Wendell O. Scott (attached from Air Force).

Planning A Weekend In The Woods? Be Careful With Fire!

Burn If You Must, But First Get That Permit

"It shall be unlawful when the ground is not snow-covered to start or have an open fire except for domestic purposes and to protect persons or property in case of fire, without the written permission of the director of conservation or other authorized conservation officer."

Thus, briefly, reads the law concerning burning permits.

The reasons for attempted control of burning are:

1.—To insure burning only at times when the hazard is low or moderate.

2.—To insure burning only in non-hazardous areas.

3.—To provide detection personnel of the Department of Conservation (fire towers) with knowledge as to location of legitimate burning.

Burning permits are easily obtained from any lookout, fire officer, conservation officer or conservation headquarters. They may be obtained personally or by telephone. They are free for the asking.

How Permits Help

The public, through obtaining burning permits whenever they find it necessary to burn, are as much a part of the fire fighting facilities of the state, as those actually engaged in suppression duties. By this cooperative measure, you provide the department of conservation with knowledge as to legitimate burning and thus prevent a false alarm run to that location.

Picture a forest fire lookout perched in his tower on a fairly hazardous day. He spots smoke, correlates the location, checks his burning permits and finds no record of one at that location. He then effects dispatch of equipment and personnel to that location, which is perhaps 30 miles distant. Perhaps he exhausts his fire fighting facilities.

The crew arrives at the location and finds an individual doing controlled burning, but he has not obtained a permit.

Need For Control

At the same time an actual fire breaks 30 miles in the other direction. The only available equipment is on a false alarm run sixty miles away. By the time they are able to cover this distance, the fire has gained such headway that a dangerous situation exists.

Had the fellow doing the controlled burning obtained a permit, it would not have been necessary to tie up equipment on this run, and the actual fire could have been attacked twice as fast as it was.

There you have the primary reason for attempted control of burning.

The burning permits may be obtained from any member of the fire fighting organization, including officers at district headquarters in Escanaba, or the following in other locations:

Hazard High, Officers Warn

Permit Needed For Burning Brush

Brush and grasslands are drying out fast and the danger of fires today is high, warns John Chriske, district supervisor of the conservation department.

There have been 14 grass and brush fires in the Delta-Marquette-Alger district so far this spring, with a total of 32 acres burned over. For the Upper Peninsula as a whole there have been more than 55 acres blackened by about 25 fires.

Warmer weather will lure many persons into the woods this coming weekend. The trout streams are lowering and the fishing is improving, many people will head for inland lakes, and others will go to camps for the first time this season.

The conservation department warns that because of the high hazard, all persons who frequent the woods should be careful with fire. One carelessly dropped match, a campfire allowed to get out of control, or brush burning around a camp or farm can cause a destructive forest fire.

Five of the 14 fires in the district occurred during the past week. Two were in Delta county, two in Marquette and one in Alger. About 18 acres were burned over.

Because of the present hazard, the department is restricting all burning permits to evening burning and to relatively safe areas. In some cases permits to burn have had to be refused because of combined hazards of fire in a dangerous forest fire area and present conditions.

Burning permits are required of all persons burning brush, rubbish, or grass lands. This is to insure burning only under safe conditions, and to provide fire control agencies with information concerning controlled burning.

In summer, ships in the Ross Sea, or the Weddell Sea, can approach to within about 700 miles of the South Pole.

FIRE "HEADQUARTERS"—Forest fire fighting in the Rapid River district of the Hiawatha national forest is directed from this headquarters at Rapid River shown above.

Forest Fires Ruin Good Trout Streams

What have forest fires to do with trout streams?

Forest fires adjacent to stream areas destroy valuable tree cover as well as land covering of grass, leaves, etc., which tend to act as water reservoirs. Heavy rains then come along and erosion starts along the banks of the streams. "The resulting infiltration of sand tends to cover over and choke out food-producing areas of the stream bottom." So states James Scully, Regional Fisheries Supervisor of the Department of Conservation, Marquette.

Picture a fire sweeping down both sides of a good stream, burning plants, bushes, humus, and denuding the larger trees of their protective covering and almost always ruining the trees for good. Since all good trout streams re-

WORKING TOGETHER for more Timber and Game

Good timber crops and good game crops go hand in hand. We must all work together to assure future supplies of both.

Green forests prevent soil erosion, conserve water, and provide food and shelter for our wildlife.

One way to assure both crops is to keep fire out of our woods. This will also help to Keep America Green.

Rapid River District Expects About 20 Fires

Based on past records, there probably will be 20 forest fires on the Rapid River ranger district of the forest service this year.

Eighteen of these will be caused by humans and two by lightning, if past records are borne out.

The forest service is geared to combat these fires.

The Rapid River district of 237,000 acres is located in eastern Delta county. The ranger station at Rapid River is manned by James W. Jay, district ranger, Harold E. Bergman, assistant ranger and Shirley Sundstrom, guard.

Fire fighting equipment is located at the ranger station and at strategic points throughout the district.

Hand tools, such as shovels, axes, grub hoes, saws, and back pack pumps for 100 men, are ready for instant use. Some of the tools are set in units for 10 men for ease in handling. One large pickup truck has been assigned for fire fighting.

Two Way Radio

It has a supply of hand tools for eight men, water tank with pump and 400 feet of hose. The pickup is provided with a two way radio for communication with the fire towers. There are two portable water pumps with a mile of hose stored at the station for use on fires where water is available.

One tractor with plow attached is available for plowing fire lines. Two large trucks can be used for transporting men and supplies.

Seven fire wardens in the district will take action on forest fires. They are Arthur Lorensen of Stonington, Andrew Magnusson of Ensign, Omar Groleau at St. Jacques, Albert Hescott at Nahma, Jake Landis at Isabella,

Mr. McGeary at Round Lake and Mr. Bergins at Bergins Resort on the forest Highway. Most of these wardens can be called by telephone and have a small supply of fire fighting tools.

Three Towers

The fire detection system is made up of three fire towers. The Waco tower is manned by Arthur Kniskern, the Moss Lake tower by Harry Sherwood and the Stonington tower with Harold Wilson as towerman. These towers and the Ranger Station are connected by 40 miles of telephone line. To supplement the telephone the fire towers and ground crews are provided with radio communication.

Each spring a program of training is started for all employees and wardens in the latest techniques of fighting forest fires. When a fire is sighted by the towerman it is reported to the ranger station and action is taken from there or by a fire warden.

The organization tries to control all fires while they are small. However, if due to weather conditions a fire cannot be controlled in its early stage and becomes large, the organization must be enlarged. More supervisors, hundreds of men, more fire fighting tools and equipment, food and supplies must be obtained to combat the large fire.

THESE TREES WENT TO MARKET

America has a thousand and one uses for the lumber sawed from logs which are produced in our green and growing forests. Lumber and plywood are the nation's basic building materials—for churches, homes, schools, factories, ships, bridges, freight cars, farm structures, and for many other purposes.

America relies on its growing forests to an ever increasing extent to supply the raw materials to make the things we need.

This is why it is important for every citizen to do his part in protecting forests from fire and to encourage the growth of trees for tomorrow. Nine out of ten forest fires are caused by people and preventable.

Homemakers' Week
At Camp Shaw
Opens June 26

Visions of picnic food served around camp fires, traditional candlelighting ceremonies on Lake Superior, stunt night, craft, book exhibits and talks are calling the Upper Peninsula homemakers as they make plans for their Extension Homemakers' Camp at Chatham, Camp Shaw, June 26-30. Librarians from this area, who will be in a workshop at Camp Shaw, will be featured on the program.

Reservations for camp must be made through the county extension offices by June 10, according to Miss Opal Roberson, assistant state leader. Camp will include librarians who register for a workshop held at the same time.

Paul Miller, extension rural sociologist, will hold two discussion periods with the women on "Homemakers' Part as a World Citizen."

Under the direction of Miss Irma Saven, district agent, each homemaker will have the opportunity of finishing a beautiful hand tooled copper plaque to take home with her. This craft offers possibility of small home industries for those women who might wish to develop it for tourist and resort trade in the Upper Peninsula.

Mrs. Florence Dearing, chairman of the state library board, will give brief reviews of books as she holds sessions with the homemakers on "One Woman's Day with Books."

Mable Miles, a favorite from the music department of Michigan State College, will be on hand to assist in developing choruses for the banquet held on Thursday night and the candlelighting ceremony on Friday night of the camp week.

Bay de Noc, Tri-County, Rainbow Leagues Opening

Baseball will break out "en masse" in several communities in the Escanaba area Sunday.

Three leagues—Rainbow, Bay de Noc and Tri-County—will launch their summer schedules on many fronts.

Escanaba has a big interest in the Rainbow league this year, fielding what is hoped to be a revived team, directed by Fr. Louis Cappel and John Schwalbach.

The Bears will open Sunday at Gladstone. The Escanaba suburban area will have another team, Groos, in the Rainbow circuit. Groos will entertain Manistique Cardinals in the opener.

In other Rainbow league clashes, Chatham will play at Tremont, North Lake at Diorite, Little Lake at Munising and Marquette at Gwinn.

The Bay de Noc league, of which Ed (Bud) Gibbs of Perkins is commissioner, will open with Fayette at Perkins, Rock at Rapid River, Cornell at Cooks and Nahma at Garden.

The eight-team Tri-County league also opens its schedule this Sunday. Bark River will be at Stephenson, Powers at Hermansville, Felch at Foster City and Wilson at Perronville.

Eskymos Win, 6 To 1; At Marquette Today

With one regular pitcher ineligible because of studies and his other starter complaining of a sore arm, Coach Jim Rouman left for Marquette with his Escanaba high school baseball team today in dubious condition.

The Eskymos meet Gravenet of Marquette in a return game.

They took their fourth win in a row without defeat yesterday, defeating Ishpeming, 6-1, behind the fine three-hit pitching of Sophomore Jack Chriske.

This Sounds Like A Wild Baseball Game

WASHINGTON — (P) — The Democrats play the Republicans tonight in what some humorist has called a baseball game, and a senator will be in the lineup for the first time in the history of this congressional contest.

The senator: Harry P. Cain (R-Wash). He will pitch, more or less.

Confronted with this situation, the Democrats have done their best.

They have Rep. Smathers of Florida, a hero of other congressional ball games who defeated Senator Pepper in the primaries.

Rep. Harris (D-Ark), the Democrats' manager, announced: "Don't underestimate this fellow. Smathers is hotter than Pepper."

Everybody laughed, congressional humor being what it is. Smathers' by the way, may be the best hitter on either club. He can hit a ball as far as the outfield, and since congressional outfielders usually hold a committee meeting on every fly ball, Smathers is a potential home run king.

The Democrats usually rise or fall with the pitching efforts of Don Wheeler, from Alma, Ga. Wheeler has one weakness: He gets tired. The Democratic policy has been to allow Wheeler to pitch until he gets weary, run in a sub until the Republicans catch up and then put Wheeler back in again.

No matter who wins, the ball playing congressmen will have done their good turn for the day. The money goes to the summer camp fund for underprivileged children.

LeLong Signs Up With Sheboygan
SHEBOYGAN, Wis. — (P) — Big Nate De Long, highest scoring player in the National collegiate basketball history, has signed with the Sheboygan Redskins of the new National Professional basketball league.

De Long scored 2,592 points during his 102-game, four-year career at River Falls, (Wis) State Teachers college to break the previous career scoring record set a year ago by Jim Lacy of Baltimore Loyola at 2,199 points.

SOFT TOUCH
DETROIT — (P) — The Wayne university baseball team has only two victories in 10 starts this season, and both of them are over Toledo. The second came 10-1 yesterday when John Wingo pitched a one-hit game, striking out 11 batters. Wingo also contributed a home run.

FRANKIE PARKER DOWNED BOBBY RIGGS 7-5, 6-3. Riggs and Kramer teamed to defeat Parker and Gonzales in doubles, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK — (P) — Mr. Inside

(the mid-western member of that know-it-all family) sends word that Notre Dame is in wrong with the other football-playing colleges for "jumping the gun" in signing a television contract ... at a recent Chicago meeting, he says, some of the other schools read the riot act and insisted the contract should be cancelled ... how that came about isn't explained. Only official NCAA action on the subject last winter was to recommend that no contracts be signed beyond the 1950-51 season ... of course, if Mr. Inside's figure, $200,000, is correct, the Irish could afford to build a modern air-conditioned doghouse and stay in it quite comfortably. They're not having any schedule troubles ... incidentally, Mr. I. reports, the chief spokesman against TV was Fritz Crisler, who can pack 97,000 into Michigan stadium, anyway. Fritz was thinking more about the little colleges and high schools.

SHORTS AND SHELLS

Taking a hint (maybe) from the Red Sox, the Southwest conference has proposed that football coaches bar newspapermen from their dressing rooms after games until a half-hour "cooling off" period has elapsed. A lot of the coaches will ignore the suggestion ... Bob Searles, former Dartmouth ski captain, now demonstrates a different use for lumber as Vermont freshman baseball coach. Bob's team has four boys with the same name—Davis.

Kramer Beats Pancho In Grand Rapids Meet

GRAND RAPIDS — (P) — Jack Kramer, pro tennis star, had an easy time last night winning the 33rd victory of his exhibition tour with Pancho Gonzales, 6-0, 6-1.

The exhibition drew a small crowd at Grand Rapids Stadium. Gonzales has won from Kramer 27 times.

Frankie Parker downed Bobby Riggs 7-5, 6-3. Riggs and Kramer teamed to defeat Parker and Gonzales in doubles, 5-7, 6-2, 6-3.

BAREFOOT BOY — Because Coach John Jacobs believed he was running too fast, Oklahoma's Dick Jones wears a shoe only on his take-off foot high-jumping six feet five-and-a-half inches.

Bucky Harris Shows Old Managerial Form

(By The Associated Press)

Bucky Harris, the Yankee cast-off who never has finished last, has his Washington Senators stirring up quite a rumpus in the American league pennant race.

Harris, back at the Washington helm for the third time, has guided the Senators to nine victories in their last 12 starts and to within a game and a half of the league-leading Yanks.

Bucky, fired by the Yanks after leading them to the pennant in 1947 and third in 1948, inherited a last place club after spending 1949 at San Diego in the Pacific Coast league.

During the spring the experts didn't rate the Senators much chance of improving their position.

But Harris, with a long managerial record that includes tenures with the Boston Red Sox, Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Phillies besides New York and Washington, said, "I've never finished last—and I don't intend to start now."

"Give me some pitchers to go with Ray Scarborough and we will surprise a lot of people." Well, Bucky is getting the help he wanted with emphasis on Sid Hudson who won only eight games and lost 17 last year.

The 32-year-old righthander, who pitched side arm last year but who now is pitching in his customary overhand fashion, turned in his fourth victory yesterday as Washington downed Chicago, 7-3. He aided his cause with a triple in the sixth.

The Boston Red Sox knocked Detroit out of a first place tie with the Yanks by outslugging the Tigers, 13-12, in a wild game at Detroit. The Yanks and St. Louis Browns had an open date.

The Cleveland Indians shaded the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-3, winning in the ninth when Lou Brisse walked Bob Kennedy with the bases loaded.

The roof fell in on the St. Louis Cardinals, who piled up an 8-0 lead over Brooklyn in the first six innings and then went on to blow a nightmarish 9-8 decision at Ebbets Field.

Michigan Golfers Beat State Again

EAST LANSING — (P) — Twice this season Michigan's golf team has turned back Michigan State by the same score—15½ to 11½. That was the final total yesterday as the Wolverines made it 10-8 in individual matches and 5½-3½ in team play.

Scenery Shift For Wakefield

May Be Waived To National League

NEW YORK — (P) — Outfielder Dick Wakefield, center of a controversy that twice went to the commissioner's office, probably will wind up playing in the National league.

There were strong hints today that the 29-year-old prodigal would be waived out of the American league and snatched up by a club in the older circuit which needs and can afford a $17,100-a-year flycatcher.

The Yankees put Wakefield back on the pay roll yesterday but told him to sit tight at his Ann Arbor home until he had further word where he's going.

"The Yankees do not want Wakefield," Arthur (Red) Patterson, club secretary, said in announcing the player's reinstatement. "He will not be asked to return."

Wakefield accepted the news placidly, with only mild hints of his earlier threats to quit the game because he may not be wanted.

"I don't know what they're planning now," he said. "I still will consider playing only for a major league club."

Wakefield watched the Boston Red Sox outlast the Tigers, his former teammates, in a wild 13-12 game at Detroit. He said he hasn't swung a bat in three weeks.

The Yankees announced they had reinstated the balking outfielder "pretty much on our own" although they had discussed the matter with Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

They said they didn't pay him a penny for the 19 days he was on the suspended list.

25 Cars Get Tests For 500-Mile Race

INDIANAPOLIS — (P) — About 25 cars will try to qualify for the 500-mile Memorial day race in tests tomorrow and Sunday.

Opening trials last weekend left 22 vacancies in the 33-car starting field.

The first 11 cars in the lineup made a required speed of 115 miles an hour look ridiculous. They averaged better than 131.6.

St. Joe Team In Two Games

With a prayer for a little more consistent hitting, Coach Tom St. Germain of St. Joseph high school leads his baseball team into two games this week-end.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30, they entertain a strong Rapid River crew in a return game. In the first meeting early this season, St. Joe lost a tough 2-1 decision. Rapid River has in Dale Gibson one of the finest high school pitchers in this area.

Sunday afternoon at the same time, St. Joe will play host to Loretto Parochials of Sault Ste. Marie. Nothing is known of the strength of the Soo outfit.

St. Germain said he would start his freshman southpaw, Hardluck Fred Boddy in the Rapid River game, and Don Paulin in the Loretto game.

Boddy truly has been a hard luck pitcher this year. He pitched three games, allowing three, four and five hits in them and lost all three because of poor fielding and weak hitting of his team mates.

St. Germain has been working overtime with his batters in practice this week, hoping they will sharpen up their attack.

Albion's Golfers Lead MIAA Play

KALAMAZOO — (P) — Albion's golfers and Kalamazoo's tennis aces led MIAA rivals into the second day of the league's field day tourney today.

Kalamazoo, the habitual tennis champion, already had clinched its 13th straight title. The Hornets also were challenging in golf.

JONES "ALL RIGHT"

BOSTON — (P) — The condition of Bobby Jones was described as "all right" today after a five-hour operation to correct a spinal ailment. A Lahey clinic spokesman reported "everything went nicely" during the long operation.

Yesterday, but that it would be a few days before doctors could determine whether the surgery was successful.

State Chalks Up Its Ninth Win Of Year

EAST LANSING — (P) — Michigan State got only two more hits than Michigan Normal but made them count for eight more runs for an 11-3 baseball win here yesterday.

Walks, errors and runners left stranded on base proved costly to Michigan Normal.

Michigan Normal had three one-run innings. Four runs in the fourth inning, the largest concentration, were made on two hits, two errors and two walks.

Heaviest hitter for the Spartans was third baseman Al Cummins, who came through with a single and two doubles.

Bob Carlson of Michigan State, the winning pitcher, was relieved after five innings when he had a 6-1 edge. Joe Martin, losing pitcher, was waved off in the seventh after he had allowed the 10th MSC run.

Michigan State now has a 9-2 regular season won and lost record for the season.

The Spartans meet the University of Detroit here Saturday. Mich. Nor. 100 001 001—3 11 5 Mich. State 020 402 30x—11 13 4 Martin, Dittman (7) and Cossey; Carlson, Beggs (6) and Joblonski.

Tigers Almost Nip Red Sox In Wild Ninth Inning Burst, 13-12

DETROIT—(AP)—It will be a long time before the Detroit Tigers forget the thrilling 13-12 photo-finish decision they dropped to the Boston Red Sox yesterday.

The memories were fresh today even as the Tigers were scheduled to clash with the Philadelphia Athletics in the opener of a two-game series here.

The setback dropped the Tigers at least temporarily out of their role as co-leader in the American league race. But the Detroiters got a lot of consolation out of the fact that they spotted the fence busting Bostonians a 10-run lead and then nearly beat them.

It was a dramatic uphill battle all the way for the Red Sox, who nearly salvaged the decision in a drama-packed ninth inning rally.

Some 16,110 fans saw that final rally, one of the most courageous ever staged in Briggs stadium.

This is how it went: The Red Sox, who at one time held an 11-1 lead, took a 13-10 edge into the last of the ninth.

Priddy Comes Through
Catcher Joe Ginsberg slammed a single into right field to get the Tiger rally underway. Dick Kryhoski ran the count to 3-1 before Red Sox relief pitcher Joe Dobson got him to ground out. Pinch-hitter Charlie Keller walked on four pitches and Johnny Lipon walked a 3-1 count to load the bases.

Gerry Priddy, hitless in four previous tries, singled sharply to right, scoring Kryhoski and Neil Berry (knocking for Keller) to make it 13-12.

That left Lipon on third and Priddy on first, with one out and only a long fly ball needed to tie the game. George Kell pumped a short fly into right field and it looked for a moment as if the ball would fall short, but right fielder Al Zarilla made a nifty running catch for the out.

Vic Wertz, who had one hit in five previous tries, slashed a vicious grounder at first baseman Walt Drope who knocked it down, the ball rolling about eight feet in back of him. The alert Dobson raced over and scooped it to Drope, beating Wertz by a half step for the final out.

Give 20 Walks
The wild and wooly game saw eight pitchers work in a 2 hours and 54-minute marathon. They gave up 20 walks, 12 of them by Boston.

Wildest of all was the fourth inning in which Boston broke loose for seven runs, driving starter Freddy Hutchinson to the showers for his second loss of the season.

That came after Boston boosted four runs across the plate in the opening inning.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

Today we pay tribute to a true sportsman.

Father of four fine athletes—Bill, Frank, Clara and Elsie—Frank Karas' interest in sports was out of doors.

Along a gravel road near Grey Knau's farm north of Cornell, if you look closely you'll see a little dogout. That's where "Pa" Karas did his deer "hunting."

That "hunting" is in quotes because his son, Frank, writes:

"Hunting, fishing and gardening were his favorite hobbies.

"Regarding the first two, he was a miserable flop—probably because of his honest and sincere efforts to stay within game laws.

"He was not one who would shoot at any noise in the brush. But he would insist on counting the points and checking the eye color of a buck before he shot.

"Personally, I think he intentionally missed when he did shoot. He always had a 'wonderful' time regardless of how empty his hunting bag or his creel was."

Bill told us "Pa" wasn't so keenly interested in trout fishing. Rather than wade up and down stream, he liked to sit on a tree-lined bank or in a rowboat and fish the "lazy man's way."

No one knows what went through his mind as he sat on the quiet stream under a warm sun.

But you can bet his mind never strayed far from his all-consuming love—music.

And you can bet, too, that in his mind he envisioned and attractive bandshell on the Ludington park lawn overlooking the lagoon.

"Pa" didn't want the bandshell for himself.

He wanted it because he knew, in a world of crime, excessive drinking and petty jealousies, that many Delta County men, women and children would find countless hours of clean, restful enjoyment in music under the stars on a waterfront hardly equaled anywhere in the country.

When you give to the Karas Memorial fund, give generously. In doing so, you not only will be providing Escanaba with something from which you and your children can derive much enjoyment.

You also will be giving in the memory of a model of a clean, wholesome sportsman—"Escanaba's Walter Damrosch."

Eleven Red Soxers went to bat in that big fourth with six hits, a hit batter and two costly errors chalked up.

Undismayed by the 11-1 Sox lead, Detroit roared back with six runs in its half of the fourth. Four walks and three hits figured in a rally which saw 10 Tigers go to the plate.

Trailing 11-7, the Tigers kept trying hard. Boston picked up single tallies in the eighth and ninth and it was lucky they did for the Tigers came up with three in the eighth. That rally ended when the Red Sox third baseman grabbed a sizzler off Johnny Groth's bat for an unassisted double play while Detroit had two on and only one out.

The loss left Detroit in second place with the New York Yankees undignified leaders pending the outcome of today's games. Boston was in the third spot, three percentage points behind Detroit.

Wolves Grid Gates Open

Fans Get Chance To See Scrimmage

ANN ARBOR—(AP)—Gates of Michigan stadium will be thrown open for all comers Saturday as the Wolverine football co-champions of the Western conference wind up spring drills with a game-type scrimmage.

The boys who'll make up Michigan's 1950 squad will go into action shortly after 2 p. m. in the huge 97,000-seat bowl.

Crowd predictions range anywhere up to a figure comparable with the 15,000 fans that watched Michigan State's windup at East Lansing last week.

It cost the non-guest a dollar a head to watch the Spartan veterans beat the newcomer squad 14-7. And the affair was regarded as a huge success.

However, Michigan officials say the opening of the gates here Saturday is in no way an effort to meet the challenge of the successful Spartan venture.

"That had nothing to do with it," said Coach Bennie Oosterbaan. "This is just our final scrimmage. Sometimes it's open to the public and sometimes it's not."

In Full Regalia
Regardless, Michigan's Wolverines will be out in full regalia with Oosterbaan and his staff sitting in judgment.

Unlike the MSC game, which was an actual contest, Michigan's workout will not conform to game length, with Oosterbaan interchanging players from one squad to another and shifting combinations frequently.

It's Oosterbaan's and the fans' chance to watch the performances of a host of veterans and newcomers.

All expect outstanding work from such oldsters as fullback Don Dufek, Chuck Ortmann, Michigan's throwing star, tackle, Capt. A. Wahl, and the apparent successor to John Ghindia's quarterback job, Bill Futich.

More eyes will be fixed on the sophomore crop. A pair of Ypsilantians, tailback Dave Hill and end Lowell Perry, will be watched closely for signs of added strength in Michigan's 1950 passing efforts.

When it's over, Oosterbaan hopes to have some ideas for next fall as Michigan gets down to the real problem of defending the Big Ten title it shares with Ohio State.

May 27 Will Be Poppy Day Here

Legion Auxiliary To Sponsor Campaign

May 27 will be observed as "Poppy Day" in Manistique.

Under the sponsorship of the Manistique unit of the American Legion Auxiliary volunteer solicitors will offer in exchange for donations, replicas of Flanders Field poppies made by disabled veterans—patients in government hospitals.

The donations received will go entirely into the rehabilitation and child welfare funds of the Legion and Auxiliary.

Veterans work on the flowers in their hospital beds, wheel chairs or in the hospital hobby shops. In some states, special workshops are maintained by the auxiliary where disabled men outside of the hospitals are employed. The veterans develop great skill and speed in shaping the flowers and are able to earn substantial amounts without overtaxing their strength. For them the poppy fills empty hospital hours with interesting and profitable employment.

Mrs. Rhoda Ekberg is chairman of the local Auxiliary poppy sale campaign.

Will Discuss Tourist Booth

C-C To Seek Ways Of Improving Facility

A meeting of the resort and guest division of the Top O' Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce will be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock, in the banquet room of Denny's Cafe.

A discussion of the proper operation of the tourist information booth will be the main topic of the evening. An open forum of methods of handling recommendations, answering mail inquiries, etc., will be of major interest to everyone present.

A round-table discussion will also be held as to the ways and means of inducing more guests to visit this area in the fall of the year when the forests are the most colorful.

Everyone interested in this tourist and guest division, whether they are members or not should plan to attend and are cordially invited, it was stated by William H. Frederick, executive secretary of the chamber of commerce.

This meeting will be of particular interest to the owners and operators of all resorts, cabin camps, hotels, restaurants, and taverns in this area.

Mayor James Fyvie Asks Observance Of 'Armed Forces Day'

Mayor James Fyvie has issued a proclamation urging all residents of Manistique to observe "Armed Forces Day" next Saturday.

The mayor requests that flags be displayed wherever possible and that the public accept the invitation of National Guard Company D, 107th Engineers to visit the armory, note its splendid equipment and, if possible, watch the flag lowering ceremony with the firing squad and bugler to sound retreat at 5 o'clock p. m.

Honor and respect are due the men who are serving in the nation's armed forces, says Mayor Fyvie.

Manistique High School Will Hold Career Day

Manistique high school will have its first annual Career day on Monday, May 29, Carl Olson, principal, announces.

Plans worked out for this innovation are of an elaborate nature and will have for their primary purpose assistance for students in choosing careers.

Questionnaires have been sent out to high school students asking them to check mark those careers appealing most strongly to them. These have been returned and the data obtained will be used as a basis for the talks and discussions arranged for on Career Day.

The day's activities will begin with a keynote address by Dr.

Wilbur West, of the Northern Michigan College of Education, of Marquette, who will discuss in a general way, the choosing of a career.

Later on, throughout the day, students will meet in rooms throughout the school to hear local people discuss the various vocations they have chosen as their life's work.

Vocations suggested listed under a general classification, are: Aviation, beautician-barber, professions (banker, lawyer, clergyman), teaching-academic, skilled trades, auto mechanics, police and law enforcement; tool and die making, college information, insurance, mail service, medicine, chiropractic - osteopathic, nurse, conservation, agriculture, engineering (chemical), drafting, commercial transportation, public speakers, mortician, telephone operator, secretary, business administration, military, journalism, home making and dressmaking, music, photography and resort operation.

It is interesting to note that among the choices expressed, 111 students were most interested in teaching, 150 in nursing, 108 in conservation work, 136 in stenography and 66 were interested in becoming aviation stewardesses.

Manistique High School Again On Accredited List

Manistique High School has again been placed on the accredited list by the North Central Association of Secondary Colleges and Schools. Word to that effect was received Thursday by Carl Olson, principal, from Lawrence Vredevoe, secretary of the association.

The advantage of being on the accredited list, according to Mr. Olson, lies chiefly in the fact that graduates of Manistique High school will be accepted by the colleges in the association without the requirement of any entrance examinations.

The local high school has been on the accredited list since 1907.

Duke Of Windsor Is A Happy Man; Writing Hard Job

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK—(AP)—"To be as happily married as I am—I call that a good life," said the Duke of Windsor.

He had just finished watching a film screening of his first television appearance.

I had been invited to see the screening in the offices of "March of Time." Before going, on the offchance that the Duke himself might show up, I went around my office and asked a number of men and women: "What is the thing you'd like to know most today about the Duke of Windsor?"

It turned out that most wanted to know these things: Is he happy? Does he have any regrets over giving up his throne?

Shortly before the hour of screening the Duke did show up—wearing an ageless smile, a jaunty red polka dot bow tie, and a gray striped flannel suit. The years have touched him lightly. He will be 56 next month, but he still has an air of timeless youth.

Duke of Windsor

He said he was sorry the Duchess couldn't come.

During the showing of the film the Duke joked light-heartedly about his acting ability.

"My, I look so old," he laughed at one point.

Afterward I joined a group chatting with the Duke. I told him what my fellow workers wanted to know about him, and he seemed genuinely pleased at their interest.

Days Too Short

"I certainly am happy," he smiled, "although the world today is not a very happy place."

"What do you miss most now from your days as King?"

"I don't miss being King, but I do miss my country and working for it," he said. "I never have an idle moment. The day is not half long enough—even when I'm not writing."

The Duke has been busy the last three years writing the story of his life from the end of the first World War to the crowded days of his abdication. It is now appearing in Life magazine.

"We are leaving for France next week," he said. "There I'm going to complete my book." The expanded memoirs are to be published next fall by Putnam's.

The Duke has found an author's life isn't an easy one.

"It's hard work—this writing," he grimaced.

The Duke declined to comment on world political events or the progress of the cold war.

"I'll leave that to others," he said. "I keep my fingers crossed."

Likes Outdoors

The Duke no longer keeps a stable of horses and rarely rides. But he has kept in excellent shape by golfing.

"Outdoor life is my greatest pleasure," he said. "I enjoy the country—and my bad golf. I shot an 85 recently. My golf is a little better than it was in the 1920's."

"But I'm always pleased to break 90"—and he grinned as he added—"that goes for a lot of people."

His other hobbies are hunting and reading—chiefly history.

How does he feel about life?

"To be happily married as I am—I call that a good life," said the Duke.

And, smiling pleasantly, he left to go back to his hotel to join the woman for whose love he gave up the rulership of one-fourth the globe and one-fourth the world's population.

Thirteen years after his abdication this Duke who was once a King is still quite a man—and a prince of a guy to meet.

William F. Johnson, Munising, Dies; Funeral Monday

MUNISING—William F. Johnson, 71, former member of the Munising fire department, and a carpenter and contractor here for many years, died yesterday at Cloverland lodge in Manistique.

He was born in Dustin, Mich., November 29, 1878, and had lived in this community for 50 years.

Funeral services will be held at the Beaulieu funeral chapel at 2 p. m. Monday with Rev. Carl A. Oswald of the First Methodist church officiating and burial will be in Maple Grove cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning at 7:30 Saturday evening.

Mr. Johnson is survived by two sons, Harry and Vernon, Munising; one daughter, Mrs. Edward Johnson, Munising; a brother, Charles Johnson, Lansing; a sister, Mrs. Slagle of Cadillac; nine grandchildren and one great grandchild.

WILL SPEAK HERE—Prof. C. C. Wiggins of the Northern Michigan College of Education, Marquette, will be the speaker at the annual men's festival at the Central Methodist church at 8 Wednesday evening, May 24. His topic will be: "A Century of Progress."
